THE FLYING GIPSIES

VICOMTE DE SIBOUR OFF AGAIN

HONGKONG-BOUND

EXPECTED HERE WITH WIFE NEXT MONTH

Cannes, Sept. 24.
Vicente de Sibour, the well-known French airman, took off from Cannes to-day on a flight to China by easy stages.

He is accompanied by his wife, his son and a friend.

The fliers expect to reach Hongkong in about three weeks.

Vicente de Sibour was a pioneer in the use of the light aeroplane for long distance touring. In the world-war he served with distinction as a pilot in the French Air Force, winning the Croix de Guerre and the Croix Militaire.

When released from the army, he entered the service of a company which was starting passenger airways, chiefly between Paris and Le Touquet and other coast resorts.

DAUGHTER OF MR. SELFIDGE.

On some of his flights he occasionally had as passenger a daughter of Mr. Gordon Selfridge, the American who set up a great department store in London.

She was already known as an intrepid motorist and at the time they met was becoming interested in flying. Under his tuition her knowledge of aviation advanced rapidly together with an interest in one another which resulted in marriage.

Resigning his position, Sibour conceived the idea of touring in an aeroplane of his own. He bought a Gipsy Moth machine in which he and his wife set out in September, 1928 on the first flight ever made round the world as a pleasure trip.

FLYING GIPSIES.

By easy stages they crossed Europe, Arabia, Persia and India to Indo-China where they spent a month or two in hunting elephants and tigers. Then, flying on through China and Japan, they crossed to the U.S. by steamer. A flight to New York and the crossing of the Atlantic by liner completed in July, 1929, a tour in which they had flown 17,000 miles. They restricted themselves to 14 lbs. of personal luggage.

It included only one brush and comb between them, but also the other badges of civilisation, a black lace frock and a dress suit. The Vicomtesse published an account of the journey under the title "Flying Gypsies."

AMONG CANNIBALS.

Early in 1930 they set out on an air tour of Africa. When flying over a wild part of Erythraea they were forced down by storms and landed among a horde of reputed cannibals. Fortunately the blacks were so terrified that they fled.

In Abyssinia the Emperor took such a fancy to their machine that under diplomatic pressure they let him have it. They then covered long distances by motor lorry, visiting Kenya, Uganda and the Belgian Congo. Returning home by way of the Cameroons, they immediately bought another aeroplane.—Reuter.

As the s.s. Charles Hardouin was anchored outside the Yaumati breakwater yesterday, it was involved in a collision with a junk. The impact was received by the steamboat on her bows, damage to the extent of $50 being caused.

The R.M.S. "Empress of Russia" is due at Nagasaki on Tuesday at 5 p.m., leaves Nagasaki on the 27th at 6 a.m., leaves Kobe on the 28th at 8 p.m., and leaves Yokohama on the 30th at 9 p.m.

FANG CHEN-WU REVOLT

Peking, Sept. 25.
Fang Chen-wu's objective appears to be the capture of Peking. Troops are reported to be moving towards Peking from three points.

It is reported that 1,000 men, the vanguard, entered Liunanshan yesterday. The Japanese are reported to be moving troops towards Miyun.—Special.

DUBLIN INCIDENT

SHOCK FOR RADIO ANNOUNCER

BRIEF UNOFFICIAL BROADCAST

Dublin, Sept. 24.
A remarkable incident occurred in Dublin to-day during the All-Ireland Gaelic Football Final, which was played at Croke Park.

A number of men, evidently opponents of the de Valera regime, entered the wireless announcer's box and sized the announcer about to describe the progress of the match.

Listeners in Ireland and in many other parts of the world within reception distance must have been astonished to hear sounds of stuffing and, then, a clear voice "drawing attention to the ill-treatment of political prisoners in Free State gaols by an alleged Republican Government."

The broadcasting authorities at headquarters then smelt a rat and cut off the broadcast from Croke Park and nothing more was heard.

The men disappeared in the crowd watching the match. Mr. de Valera was among the forty thousand spectators.—Reuter.

LOCAL POLICE OFFICER PASSES AWAY

Young Man Victim of Typhoid

The death occurred at the Government Civil Hospital at 8.05 this morning of Police Lance-Sergeant Allen Henry Cleathero, at the age of 24, it is understood, from typhoid.

A native of Lowestoft, Suffolk, the late Sergeant Cleathero arrived in Hongkong on October 22, 1930. He passed examinations in Cantonese and later was posted to No. 2 (Wanchai) Station.

Well-liked by those who knew him, there will be general regret over an untimely demise which has cut short a promising career.

The funeral, of an official nature, takes place this afternoon, the cortege arriving at the Monument at 5 p.m.

CHINA SQUADRON RETURNING

SUBMARINES BOUND FOR HONGKONG

H.M.S. Folkestone is due to arrive in Hongkong to-morrow afternoon from her summer cruise. The British submarines, H.M.S. Rainbow and Orpheus, left Weihaiwei on Saturday for Hongkong and will arrive on September 28, while H.M.S. Keppel, H.M.S. Whitshed, H.M.S. Veteran and H.M.S. Wren, which have been on a Japanese cruise, are expected to return on October 2.

MANILA BREACH NARROWS

PLACATORY SPEECHES

MR. QUEZON AND MR. OSMENA

Manila, Sept. 23.
The way for a friendly understanding between the majority and the minority in the legislature was believed to have been paved by speeches last night in the Senate by the leaders of the two factions.

President Manuel Quezon started the ball rolling with a brief but pregnant speech tracing the history of his stand for the plebiscite and his opposition to the law. He invited a hearing of all points of view. Senator Sergio Osmena, minority leader, responded in the same friendly vein that Mr. Quezon spoke, regretting the injection of personalities in the discussion of the independence law and declaring that divergence of opinion on the law arose from honest differences of opinion on so broad and fundamental a subject regarding which it was only human and natural that there should be no universal agreement even among a people who all want their freedom and independence.

"DEEP SATISFACTION"

Senate President Quezon was so moved by the Osmena remarks about differences of opinion on the law as due to honest differences of conviction that he stood up for the second time to air his grievances against those who have charged him with sinister and unholy motives in opposing the law.

"I want to express my deep satisfaction over the statement here of Senator Osmena regarding those who sustain views opposed to theirs," he said, "because time and again I have been charged by some with motives not entirely honest and complimentary in taking the position I have taken against the law. What I am going to say now must not be taken as a criticism or attack. I simply want to air my grievances against motives that have been attributed to me. The remarks of Senator Osmena to-night remove a dagger from my heart for I hear for the first time an admission that differences on the Hawes-Cutting law could arise from honest and sincere conviction."

HIGHER PHONE RATES

Shanghai, Sept. 22.

The Shanghai Telephone Company has formally lodged with the Shanghai Municipal Council and the Municipalite Francaise an application for permission to increase its tariff. The terms of the application have not been disclosed for the matter has not yet been considered by the Public Utilities Committee which will be required to report to the Council on the subject.

It will be recalled that the Council when granting the Anson rates last year in accordance with the provisions of the franchise which entitled the Company to the new rates on the completion of the conversion of the system to automatic working, reserved the question of any further increase for investigation. For that increase the Company is now making application.

The exact terms of the argument are not available. It is understood that the Company points out that it has spent much capital in putting the system in proper working order for the future. It has so far paid no dividends and the fall in the dollar exchange since the Anson Report was published has really made the Anson rates inapplicable, although the Company agreed to defer raising that point when they came into force on the completion of the conversion scheme.

SPEED RUN MISHAP

BACKFIRE IGNITES PETROL

RECORD BROKEN

London, Sept. 24.

Mr. Scott-Paine's crack motor-boat, Miss England III, caught fire and was seriously damaged when travelling at high speed in Poole Harbour to-day.

All members of the crew escaped unharm.

Mr. Scott-Paine was himself a member of the crew and before the boat caught fire, he had beaten the sea mile record, attaining a mean speed of 95.08 miles an hour on two runs, each of a mile.

The accident was apparently due to a backfire which ignited petrol which had leaked into the bottom of Miss England III.

GREAT MISFORTUNE.

It is a great misfortune as the craft is looked upon as one of the most remarkable products of marine engineering of recent times. She is the nearest approach to a pure hydroplane ever entered in motor-boat racing.

She was designed by Mr. Scott-Paine and has achieved over 100 miles an hour in an unofficial speed trial with a 900-h.p. engine on Southampton Water.

BETTER REPORT

Later.
The vessel is not so badly damaged as was first feared, says Mr. Scott-Paine after an examination of Miss England III.—Reuter.

STERN METHODS WITH ARMY

DEATH PENALTY FOR NEGLIGENCE

Kulling, Sept. 20.

All officers below the rank of brigade-major are to be set examinations to test their knowledge of military matters, according to the latest edict of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek. At first, the decree will apply only to the Government armies in Kiangsi, Hunan, Hupeh, and Honan. The examinations will take place once in three months for officers below the rank of divisional commander, once a month for those below brigadier, and once a week for those below regimental commander.

Officers above the rank of brigade-major are liable to a personal examination by Gen. Chiang Kai-shek at any time, without notice.

Officers found negligent in carrying out orders in connexion with the anti-Communist campaign are liable to various severe sentences, including capital punishment.—Reuter.

The R.M.S. "Empress of Japan" left Kobe yesterday at 7 p.m., is due at Shanghai on the 28th Sept. at 4 p.m., and leaves Shanghai on the 27th Sept. at 1.30 p.m. for Hongkong.

CHAOS EXTENDS IN CUBA

U.S. INTERVENTION NOW SEEMS INEVITABLE

AUTHORITY TO NAVAL COMMANDERS

WASHINGTON, SEPT. 24.
ARMED INTERVENTION BY THE UNITED STATES IN CUBA CAME APPRECIABLY CLOSER TO-DAY, OWING TO THE INCREASING GRAVITY OF THE SITUATION.

The commanders of American warships in Cuban waters have now been authorized to land forces on their own initiative if they consider it necessary.

Washington has, however, made it clear that a landing must not be made if it can possibly be avoided, although it is admitted in official circles that there is cause for serious concern in the increasing lawlessness, and it is feared that the landing of marines and blue-jackets cannot be avoided unless a change for the better takes place.

FOREIGNERS IN GRAVE DANGER

A member of the United States Government to-day asserted that Communists trained in Moscow have established the framework of a Communist organization throughout Cuba and that armed forces, operating under their direction, are reported to be commandeering food and lodging without payment.

Warship commanders have now been vested with the responsibility of landing if the situation requires it.

DIPLOMATIC VIEWS.

Diplomatic quarters in Washington, however, consider that the United States will wait until the last possible moment before intervening as the landing of armed forces in Cuba would undoubtedly prejudice the chances of the success of the Pan-American Conference to be held in Montevideo in December, where it is understood, President Roosevelt hopes to lay the foundation for closer relations with Latin America to compensate for the shrinkage of American trade with Europe.

The same circles express the view that Tokyo would compare American intervention in Cuba with the Japanese invasion of Manchuria.

CUBAN EFFORTS.

Messages from Havana indicate that President Grau San Martin is striving his utmost to prevent the United States from having any excuse for intervention and is in negotiation with the opposition with a view to an agreement to bring an end to the present reign of chaos.

Labour troubles in the interior of Cuba are of a nature bordering upon open rebellion.

FOREIGNERS' PERIL.

The fate of twelve British and American residents at Panama is unknown.

Four Americans and ten other foreigners are isolated at Medallina sugar-mills.

NEWSPAPER STRIKE ENDS.

The newspaper strike in Havana has ended. Employers have settled their differences with reporters and printers, who claimed their promises of higher wages and salaries were not being fulfilled, and the papers resumed publication. When the papers issued again with accounts of what was transpiring the public felt increased reassurance.

Troops sent to an American owned sugar plant in Camaguey ejected rioters there.

Several communist leaders have been arrested in the eastern provinces.

Despite assurances by the government that everything is well, cavalry and machine gun troops continue patrolling the presidential palace to prevent any sudden coups.

MINES SHUT DOWN.

Twelve Americans who have been virtual prisoners of striking workers at manganese mines at Cristo have been removed to safety but the mines have been shut down indefinitely.

A serious food shortage was reported at Puerto Padre, on the north coast of Oriente province, and a similar situation threatened the towns of the southern coast of the province. Unless the strike of warehousemen ends shortly there will be a shortage of food in Havana.

Many towns reported numerous cases of malaria, conditions being especially bad at Cienfuegos.

Mobs of workers, said to be supporters of the revolutionary regime of President Grau San Martin, in power since the first of the month, are threatening to seize the Soledad sugar mills near Cienfuegos, and the Tacajo mill in Oriente province.

The tense labour situation at Santiago resulted in bloodshed when army units commanded by revolutionary students fired on a communist demonstration, wounding four persons.

CASTLE RAIDED BY NAZIS

HIGH STATE OFFICIAL ARRESTED

Berlin, Sept. 20.
Nazi Storm Troopers and political police raided a castle in the Franconian Jura, near the town of Heidenheim, to-day and arrested 41 men and women on a charge of plotting against the National Socialist state.

The names of the prisoners were disclosed, but a Nazi official stated they are composed of a high state official and his family, several judges and professors and some aristocrats. They are described as "highly intellectual people" and according to the leader of the Storm Troops who participated in the raid, they will be held in more severely guarded quarters.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

YOUR CHILDREN

Showing Children Too Much
Solicitude Encourages
Wrong Mental Attitude

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Dick, do eat your lunch."
"I'm not hungry."

"When your mother comes home she will find you all skin and bones, then she will think I've starved you."

Dick regarded his aunt for an instant. She did not know it but instantly his young head had done some quick calculating. Something like this. "It would be very interesting if mother came home and found me pale and thin and sick looking. What a lot of attention and fussing I'd get then."

Power of Suggestion

He folded his napkin and left the table without changing expression as children do—Sphinx faces they are—and his poor aunt never guessed that she had definitely started something that was to last through her stay.

Even Dick didn't know in so many words himself what he had decided to do, the power of suggestion works in riddles. But his mind had a plan drawn that would keep him occupied day and night from now on.

"Dick! Dick! Where are you? Get Harold and do an errand for me, will you? Oh, there you are. It's only down to the store. What's the matter? Swing sick?"

"I guess not. I'll go. I just don't feel very good, that's all." Dick got up off the swing like an old, old man and reached listlessly for the money.

"Heavens, Dick Morton, if you dare to take sick, now your mother will never forgive me. She'll never let me in the house again."

A Child's Mind at Work

Dick like his Aunt Frances well enough but he wasn't crazy about this idea of his mother and father going off on a holiday and leaving him at home with her.

"Aunt Fran, maybe a little ice-cream would cool me off and make me feel better."

"Yes, do get some. Here's some more money. You didn't eat your lunch and I can't have you starving."

Dick walked slowly over toward Harold's, but when he got out of sight he ran.

Now what followed may seem to be far beyond the ken of a child of nine, but that is just because we don't guess how children's minds often work.

Moreover, please remember that Dick did not deliberately do this—but his mind was determined seeking the means to an end. It had the impetus of suggestion from Aunt Fran and it was carrying on as hard as it could go.

Dick knew that sarsaparilla, pop, a six-inch pickle and chocolate icecream had once made him sick. And now he got all three and ate them.

Parental Affection

He was sick. The doctor was called. Mother got a letter that Dick "hadn't been well" but was all right now.

She shortened her visit by three days and came home. Dick was perfectly all right but he didn't smile when she came in. He adopted the role of dying cat-fish

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Five Preparations Every Woman Needs
For Her Dressing Table

By Alicia Hart

Every woman needs five preparations on her dressing table. These, of course, are in addition to powder, rouge and other make-up. A good cleansing cream is all important. Select one that has a thin texture. It should liquify the minute it touches your skin. Use it at night to remove the grime and dust of this day and again in the morning before you apply makeup. You can use cleansing cream and then rinse your face several times with warm water. If you simply can't get along with-and lay all over the place. "My darling!" His mother held his head to her breast. "I'll never, never, go away again. Fran, what did you do?" Poor Fran had done nothing but suggest an interesting experiment by six simple words.

There is a sermon in this story. The power of mental suggestion is terrific. It never does to dramatize a child's condition or state of mind to him. It leads to things.

out soap and water, use it first and then the cleansing cream.

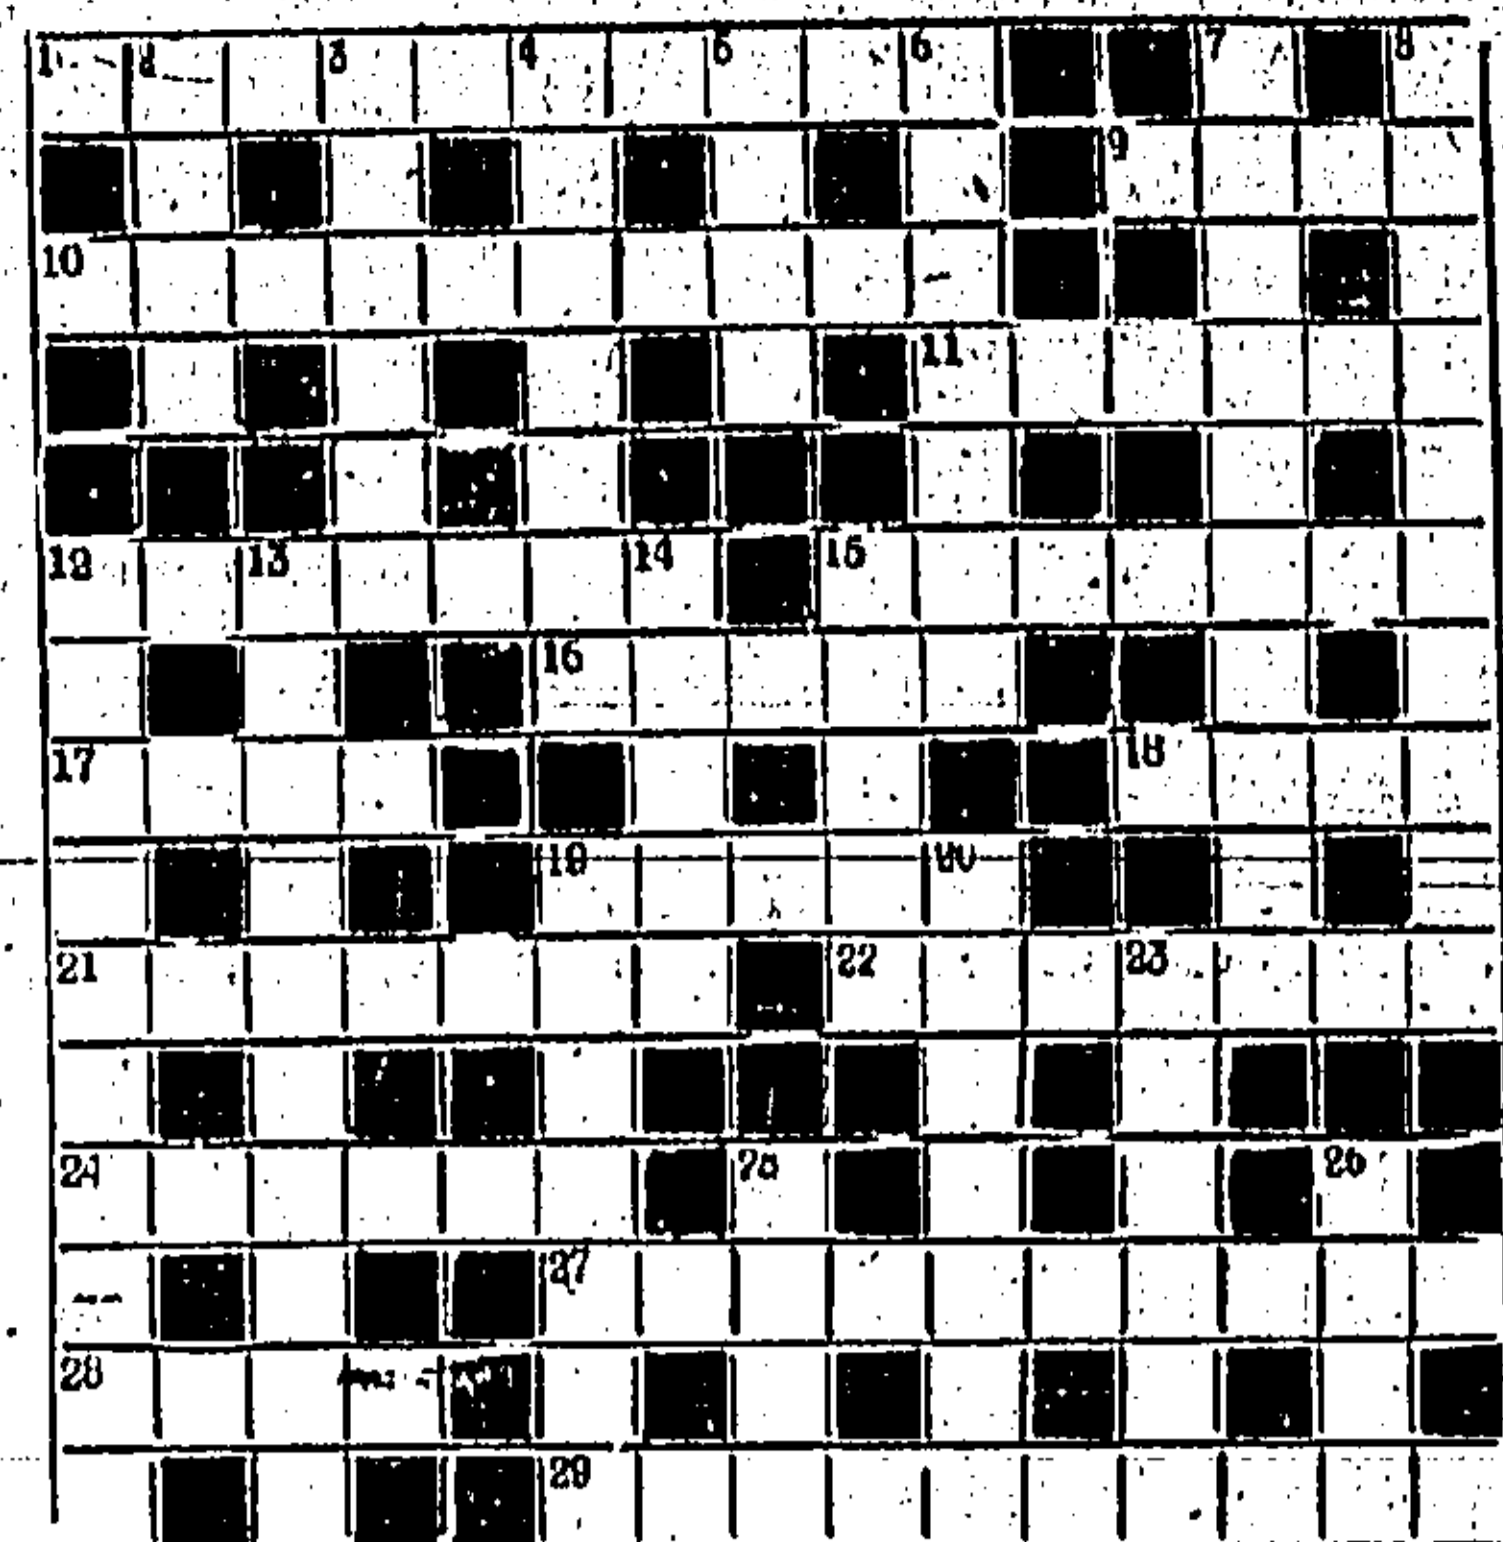

Tissue cream is an asset to any complexion. It should be composed of oils—not animal fat—and is to be used at night after your face is clean. Every woman over thirty needs to use a tissue cream at least four nights a week. It puts natural oil back into your skin and keeps your complexion soft and unlined.

A skin toning lotion takes a seat of importance along with your other creams and lotions. It tones the skin and prepares it for makeup. Always apply it with clean cotton pads after you have cleaned your face. It removes excess cleansing cream and is a mild stimulant.

Have an astringent for your chin and neck. Apply it to your chin by means of a patten and to your neck with a cotton pad. It keeps necks from becoming flabby and chins from developing into sets of two and three.

A powder base is essential, too. There are various kinds, ranging from the ubiquitous vanishing creams to liquids. A liquid powder base is more in favour than a cream. Use it on your nose, forehead and chin before you powder.

APPEAL FOR SUPPORT.

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD AT KILMARNOCK

London, Sept. 23.

The Prime Minister, (Mr. Ramsay MacDonald), appealed for continual unity in support of the National Government at a public meeting in Kilmarnock last night. He claimed that the strong position of Great Britain, both financially and industrially, was the result of the Government's work during a period of extreme difficulty. He pointed to the rise which was taking place in wholesale prices, describing this as one of the most scientific ways of increasing both the demand for labour, and wages given to labour, and pointed out that meanwhile, purchasing power had also been maintained.

Trade was showing many hopeful signs and British currency had earned the confidence and respect of the world. There had also been a fall in unemployment of nearly 600,000 since the beginning of this year.

Mr. MacDonald said the Government was working to increase world consumption and to secure for Britain of that increase.—British Wireless.

No Time to Lose!

By Small

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER XXX

Eve tried to conceal her dismay. "Dick," she said nervously, "I need $200 and I must have it to-day. This noon if possible!"

"I'm sorry," he told her, "but I haven't that much in the bank."

"But I must have it!" she insisted. "I'll be glad to pay you back."

"I'll be glad to pay you back," Dick did not embarrass her by asking questions. "I've just paid an insurance premium," he explained. "I could take up my policy but that is made out for your future protection."

"I'd be afraid to have you do that!"

"Well," he went on, "I might borrow on it—"

"Oh, Dick, please do!"

"It will take about 10 days to complete the loan," he explained.

"That made the plan useless. Eve had to have the money immediately."

"She was sorry that she had said anything to Dick about it. Her only remaining recourse seemed an appeal to her mother."

Eve put through a long distance call to her home. It was Esther who answered and told her that their mother had fallen from a step ladder that morning and wrenched her back, hence she could not come to the telephone. And it was Esther who offered to lend Eve the $200 she needed without telling their parents. Esther would go to the bank in the morning and send the money by telegraph. Eve resolved to do something handsome for her sister as soon as she was able in order to show her gratitude.

She found Arlene looking extremely unhappy when she returned to the office. "What'll I do?" Arlene implored with a wan smile. "I should raise $60 on 24 hours' notice when I couldn't raise it in 24 days!"

"Can't you borrow at home?" Eve suggested.

"Not at my home!" Arlene assured her airily. "I'm lucky to be on the board basis there. I used to hand over my entire salary cheque to Mother each week and she paid my expenses. But I put up such a good sales talk for handling my own money a year ago that I finally won out. Since then I've paid board at home and occasionally make wild prophecies about my bright financial future. No, I couldn't borrow without telling my parents why and if I did that I'd never get the money!"

"I truly believe Atlas Coupler will recover and we will be glad that we hung on, Arlene. Why don't you tell your father about it? I think he'd see you through."

"My father! Oh, that's precious. My father only believes what he sees. So he goes in for houses and lots—one at a time. Real estate is the thing, he says. It's real to him because he can lay his hands on it. He thinks the little investor has no chance at anything else and he'd think it was a good lesson for me to lose what I've put in stocks so far," answered Arlene.

She took her loss like a good sport, Eve conceded, but she could not shake off the feeling of guilt because it was she who had introduced Arlene to margining on the stock market.

It was a great relief to Eve when Esther's money came. She took the $200 to the brokerage office and protected her stock for the time. Eve tried to save all she could in order to pay Esther in a lump sum. She recalled the contempt Dick had expressed for people who borrow a sum and pay it back in dribbling amounts. "The person who made the loan has difficulty getting the original amount together again and it is just about a total loss to the lender who saved it in the first place," he had said. Esther's husband would feel the same and Eve was quite sure Esther had told him of her appeal. Eve had much faith in her investment and looked for it to lift her from petty financial annoyance and constant struggle to heights of prosperity.

Soon Atlas Coupler recovered and gradually went on to a new high for the year.

Eve was worried about her mother's health. She was anxious for her vacation to arrive so she might be with her. Esther was at home and reported favourable progress, although their mother suffered. Both Kate and Hank Bayless found their household brightened by the presence of Esther's baby who was toddling about the house and beginning to talk.

And Eve was concerned about Dick, too. The building which housed the theatre was completed and Dick left for Chicago to clear up some loose ends of business in connection with the building. He was in conference at the company headquarters for several days and the time until his return seemed to Eve interminable.

Much would depend upon his next job, Dick had made clear to her before he left. It was scarcely likely that the Chicago firm would have another long contract in Lake City immediately. Dick's next job might be in another city or even another state. Eve again refused to consider this possibility until she faced the actual facts.

She met Dick at the station the June morning he returned from Chicago. How handsome he looked as he swung down the steps carrying his Gladstone!

"Hello, sweetheart!" he greeted her.

"Darling," she murmured, kissing him regardless of bystanders. And in the taxi riding home she asked many questions except the one uppermost in her thoughts—where he was to work next?

Dick had brought her an ivory cloisonne compact and she was delighted with it. Always, she told him, she had wanted a really beautiful compact and this was doubly precious because he had chosen it for her.

Dick unpacked his bag and Eve poured a cup of coffee for him. Then it was time for her to go to the office. He drove her down in the roadster.

"Guess I can chauffeur for you for some time to come," he remarked. "That is, if you still insist on going to work."

"What do you mean?" asked Eve, her heart pounding with suspense. "I'm not going to have anything to do for a couple of months," he answered.

Marya an Ray had returned from their honeymoon and twice Marya had lunched with Eve and Arlene when she was down town on shopping trips.

That morning she telephoned to Eve at the office. "Now that we are settled," Marya said, "we want you and Dick to come out and have dinner with us. We're inviting Arlene and Sam Holteridge, too. Ray and I both like Sam."

When Eve repeated this invitation Arlene protested. "But Sam is likely to be three sheets to the wind! I wish Marya would ask George Bliss instead. I can't think of a greater inducement to matrimony than submitting a man to the influence of Marya's romantic bungalow. And I'm going to wear my rose chiffon too."

Arlene wore it, entrancing Sam who called for her in a long, powerful roadster.

"Want the top down?" he asked. Arlene agreed enthusiastically and they sped along Lake road, hatless and windblown, with laughter on their lips.

Marya, in bouffant pink batiste, was a delightful hostess. The dinner table was laid with light green damask, ivory dishes, amethyst glassware and Marya wedding silver. The food was delicious.

Sam praised Marya's skill as an artist and then offered to arrange for the sale of her batik work at the store where he was employed.

"I hadn't planned to do much of that sort of thing," Marya said, "but it would give me the opportunity to earn some money for art lessons. My ambition is to specialize in child portraiture. Oh, I know I'll have to study years and years and work very hard—but I don't mind that!"

Later when the three girls were together Eve said, "Marya, this is a story-book house! I expect to waken any moment and find out that I've been dreaming. Surely you have nothing to wish for!"

Marya, smiling serenely, answered, "Nothing but a cradle with a cherub in it!"

Eve was always to remember that. On the way home she said to Dick in a wistful voice, "Dick, do you think we will ever have a lovely home like that?"

"That depends!" he answered. But he did not say on what it depended.

AN ULTIMATUM

INCURSIONS INTO

Peking, Sept. 23.
A threat of renewed hostilities in North China is held out in the Japanese ultimatum which demands the evacuation from the south of Fang's troops from the zone demilitarized by the Tangku Armistice.

It is noteworthy that Fang Chen-wu is regarded by the Chinese Government as a virtual rebel.

The ultimatum was contained in leaflets which a Japanese military aeroplane, complete with machine-guns, scattered during a half-hour visit to Peking this morning. The ultimatum caused consternation among the Chinese population.—Reuter.

In a Quandary.

Peking, Sept. 23.
The Japanese ultimatum to General Fang Chen-wu has placed the Chinese military authorities here in a quandary, for while they are anxious to see General Fang's troops leave the demilitarized zone, they do not desire Japan to carry out a punitive expedition against them, which is bound to result in further suffering for the common people in the evacuated districts.

It is reliably learned that General Ho Ying-ching has requested the Japanese military attaché, Colonel Shibayama, to urge the Kwantung Army to reconsider its decision and allow the Chinese to send special police to deal with General Fang's men. General Ho points out that General Fang Chen-wu has less than 2,000 troops, and that it will therefore be not difficult to dispose of them. Colonel Shibayama has already wired to Changchun for instructions.

Peking Apprehensive.

Peking, Sept. 24.
The feeling of tension here has been aggravated by the sending of the Japanese ultimatum to General Fang Chen-wu.

Fang is showing no disposition to comply with the Japanese demand, however. On the contrary, 4,000 troops belonging to Generals Chi Hung-chang and Tang Yu-lin are stated to have entered Kuaijiao from Jehol and Chahar, allegedly to join Fang's forces.

Rumours are afloat in Peking to the effect that several hundred plainclothes agents of Fang have smuggled themselves into Peking for the purpose of plotting disturbances.

Meanwhile, an official report shows that Fang's troops at present are at Niulanshan, 35 miles north of Peking.—Reuter.

BANDITRY RIFE.

Pro-Japanese Volunteers

FOREIGNERS FLEE.

Peking, Sept. 23.
The bandit situation in the Luantung region appears to be going from bad to worse. Foreign residents of Peking, returning from Peitaiho, describe the frightful scene of burning villages lighting up the sky at night-time.

As a result of the bandit activities, most of the holiday makers have returned from Peitaiho and Chinwangtao, in which region, now only a very few foreigners remain.

Despatches from foreign sources in that region state that refugees from Funing are pouring into Changli, telling of how their villages have been burned and pillaged by bandits during the last few days.

The foreign despatches give details of Chinese reports, declaring that bandits are being instigated by Manchukuo agents under a bandit named Lao Hao-tze.

General Ho Ying-ching has appointed a small Commission made up of members of the Luantung Retrocession Commission to negotiate with the Japanese authorities here and in Tientsin, for the despatch of further forces of armed Chinese police into the demilitarized zone, to deal with the bandits.—Reuter.

COMBINED EFFORT.

Soong And Huang-Fu
Going North.

Nanking, Sept. 23.
Local press reports state that Mr. T. V. Soong, accompanied by General Huang-fu, is probably leaving Shanghai on Monday for Peking for jointly handling the North-China situation.—Reuter.

U.S. ECONOMICS

IMPORTANT MEETING AT

Washington, Sept. 24.
An important conference is being held at the White House tonight at which President Roosevelt will discuss with Mr. Woodin (Secretary of the Treasury), Mr. Black (Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank Board) and other experts, the monetary, fiscal and credit policies to be pursued by the Government.

An official spokesman denied the report that the Government was considering the expansion of currency by issuing bank notes against Government bonds. It had been reported that $400,000,000 would be thus issued in order to free deposits to the same amount, which were "frozen" in closed or restricted banks.

The spokesman also indicated that the Federal Reserve Banks did not intend to increase the present rate of open market purchases of Government bonds, in an effort to encourage banks to lend more liberally to industry. Such a move had already been attempted but had proved to be most disappointing.

Federal Reserve Banks have recently been buying these securities at the rate of about $35,000,000 a week, thus increasing the reserves at the disposal of the commercial banks for lending. The commercial banks, however, have not been inclined to pass on the money to industry, on the ground that there is a scarcity of sound borrowers.—Reuter.

"COMMODITY DOLLARS."

Washington, Sept. 23.
The clamour for inflation in the United States, is growing daily particularly among the farmers. A meeting at Des Moines, Iowa, of the "National Farmers' Holiday Association" voted unanimously in favour of a "Farm Strike" for all agricultural products, and asking Labour to co-operate in the strike if the Government do not comply with its demands.

Meanwhile, in view of the almost incredible number (estimated at 17,500,000) of Americans receiving relief, President Roosevelt has ordered his U.S.$75,000,000 scheme to help farmers by feeding and clothing the destitute and unemployed, to start within a month.

The plan supplements the existing Federal, State and Municipal

EZRA BROTHERS GET HEAVY SENTENCES.BIG TRAFFIC FROM CHINA
TO U.S.

San Francisco, Sept. 24.
The Ezra brothers, Judah and Isaac, have each been sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment in the State penitentiary. In addition a fine of U.S.$12,000 has been imposed on each prisoner.—Reuter.

With the finding of a consignment of narcotics in oil barrels aboard the N.Y.K. liner Asama Maru, at San Francisco, a huge drug-smuggling organisation headed by the Ezra brothers was unearthed.

The activities of the organisation were found to be between Shanghai and San Francisco and it was disclosed that a huge traffic was being carried on between these points.

The Ezra brothers, along with their accomplices, were charged at San Francisco, and on their plea of guilty, the indictment of drug smuggling was proven. Sentences was suspended until this month to enable the brothers to assist the authorities in their further probing of the drug smuggling traffic.

At the trial of the brothers, the District Attorney disclosed that the Ezras were responsible for sending to San Francisco from China no fewer than eight large shipments of narcotics valued at over U.S.$1,500,000. All of these shipments reached their destinations. It was the discovery of the ninth shipment which led to the arrest of the Ezra brothers.

The District Attorney affirmed that the Ezras undertook to recoup their fortunes, which they had previously lost in legitimate enterprises, by drug smuggling.

The brothers are well-known figures in Shanghai, where they were previously engaged as merchants. A brother, Edward, was at one time a member of the Shanghai Municipal Council.

Expenditures amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars, and may be supplemented by the Federal distribution of 10,000,000 tons of coal during the winter.

Meanwhile, there are indications that the President hopes to inaugurate "commodity dollars," as envisaged by Professor G. F. Warren, of the "Brain Trust," before Congress meets in January. This will release about U.S.$2,000,000,000 of frozen assets, in closed or restricted banks, for the benefit of depositors.—Reuter.

SINKIANG REVOLT

MA CHUNG-YIN

Nanking, Sept. 23.
Fresh complications have arisen in Sinkiang, where Dr. Lo Wen-kan is investigating the situation on behalf of the Central Government, according to Chinese reports, which state that General Sheng Shih-chai and Liu Wen-lung, the Sinkiang Governor and Pacification Commissioner, respectively, narrowly escaped capture or death at the hands of their mutinous body-guard when en route to meet General Ma Chung-yin, who had sued for peace.

The mutiny, which was nipped in the bud, is believed to have been incited by General Ma Chung-yin's representatives, Yao Shih-ping and Chang Ya-shuo. They were therefore placed under arrest and taken to Tihua.

A further estrangement is reported to have occurred between General Ma Chung-yin and the provincial authorities as a consequence of this incident, but whether hostilities have been resumed is at present not known. Later.

A fresh outbreak in Sinkiang is confirmed by Chu Min-yi, who to-day declared that General Ma Chung-yin has again revolted and is now fighting against the provincial government forces under General Sheng Shih-chai.—Reuter.

BOYCOTT GERMANY.

U.S. LABOUR LEADER'S ATTACK

Washington, Sept. 24.
Mr. Green, President of the American Federation of Labour, has issued a statement indicating an American Labour boycott of German products.

He described the rule-of-Hitler as medieval and revolting and said that terrorism in Germany had gone to wilder and wilder excesses, resulting in an open war on trades unionism, even death for many union leaders.

Mr. Green added that American Labour was becoming convinced that a boycott was the only thing to bring home to the German tyrants the abhorrence in which their rule was held by the rest of the world.—Reuter.

THE RECOVERY DRIVE

Mr. Montagu Norman's profession of inability to follow the course of the American industrial recovery drive sounds a warning against any attempt at interpretation of events, although few will take heed; the subject is too fascinating. The Great Experiment goes on and its success or failure is certain to have an influence on the internal political and economic policy of most every country in the world. An effort to understand and assess is imperative. It is, indeed, probable that Mr. Norman did not intend his hearers to take him seriously; his "modesty" was more likely a sly dig at President Roosevelt's trial and error methods. To-day, Washington is chiefly concerned with the problems of inflation. There is talk of the issue of large quantities of paper notes; the truth is that no decision has yet been reached. Far more important in the long run, in any event, is the working of the industrial codes and here there is room both for doubts and for encouragement. Three of the most important enrolments under the code banner might more accurately be called impressions. For the Government had to dictate a code to the oil interests and to lay down an ultimatum for steel and coal. It would have been better if coercion could have been avoided; the most effective recovery is a voluntary one. And coercion is a dangerous weapon. But it might be argued that in these cases it had more justification than where it is applied blindly by popular emotion. Moreover, it may prove a blessing in disguise. For a secondary result of the codes for the oil and steel and coal—reforms in these industries—may very well prove almost as important as the help they may give to the emergency drive for recovery. It is noteworthy that the President has used a "big stick" among those where the worst conditions have existed, both in unfair competition and inhuman working conditions. The oil interests have long sought fair and sound means to restrict production. The steel industry has always had a ticklish labour problem. And the coal fields have been burdened by a chaotic condition of overproduction. Despite spasmodic efforts these problems have drifted along. Some emergency or decisive outside pressure has seemed necessary to stop that drifting. It may very well prove that reforms business has long hesitated to apply because they seemed impossible are not only possible but beneficial when a test is forced.

NOTES OF THE DAY

COLONIAL POLICY

An interesting article on "The Constitutional Significance of the British Colonial Empire" is contributed by Professor T. Walter Wallbank to the September Crown Colonialist. Dr. Wallbank is greatly impressed with the economic progress of the Colonial Empire and its importance to British trade; but this, he considers, only makes it more necessary to study its constitutional problems, since economic progress depends upon good government. Sufficient attention has not so far been given to this study, and it is, therefore, instructive to follow Dr. Wallbank in his examination of the constitutional diversity of the Colonies, the formative period, the static or conservative stage, and the experimental or liberalising stage. He has also some interesting remarks on the working of Crown Colony government, and on the development of indirect rule. The views of this detached American observer should prove interesting to all British students of our Colonial administration. The conclusion reached is that while many problems yet await solution and many new problems will arise, there need be little disquietude concerning the future of the British Colonial Empire.

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald appeals for continued unity in support of the National Government, which will soon be celebrating its second birthday, and he is likely to get it. Political theories are in the melting pot. Fascism and Communism have thrust themselves upon the horizon. Dictatorships have been established professing to be more representative of the people than are parliaments. Britons also are coming to terms with the realistic temper of the age. The circumstances which have favoured the National Government during the last two years have been exceptional, scarcely less so than those which necessitated a coalition in the war. There has been a continual sense of crisis, demanding concentration of effort on a few things. The predominant political issues have been world issues, and it is the time-honoured custom of British politicians to drop factiousness in dealing with foreign affairs. And again, the questions on which public affairs have turned have been intricate economic questions which the ordinary man does not fully understand. Preoccupied with such matters Parliament has had little opportunity for oratory or impassioned declamation. It has had the manner of a cool and sedate Council of State.

NOT ALWAYS

But men will not always be content to treat human society as if it were primarily a mass of exclusively economic units. So long as it is preoccupied, as it is now, with the problem of mere survival, Britain's people are willing that other interests should be put aside. But domestic and social issues will again come to the fore, and these will give rise to divergent opinions; then those who hold opinions strongly will seek to gain supremacy in Parliament. Probably it is apathy in regard to all but a few outstanding issues that has led to the suspension of an eager party spirit. It was adversity which produced the united front of the National Government, and fear of economic collapse has maintained it. But any relaxation of economic pressure will release energy for a wider play of ideas; the nation will rediscover the multiplicity of its needs and desires. When new problems present themselves the lines of cleavage will be expressed in a renewed conflict of parties.

FERRY SERVICES

Unless it is primarily intended for the carriage of farm and garden produce from Kowloon, City to Victoria, the proposed new ferry services between central Victoria and Kowloon, City, via Hung Hom, would appear to confer benefits. If time is a factor, the journey can almost certainly be covered more quickly from the island by the use of the Star Ferry and the mainland bus services. There would, of course, be a saving in the total cost of the journey in making use of the service now proposed. While it will be generally agreed that the cross-harbour services are far from sufficient for all needs, Government's proposals, which seem as though they have been inspired, though it arouse little enthusiasm and will meet the needs only of a few, The Sai Wan Ho service to Hung Hom is in quite a different category, but we would suggest that if Government really desires to provide useful ferry service, one should be established between Wanchai and the mainland, also serving Hung Hom and Kowloon City.

ROBERT LYND ON A PLAGUE OF STRUTTING CAESARS

EVERYBODY seems to be talking dictatorship nowadays. Sir Stafford Cripps apparently does not believe in dictatorship, but even he is infected by the germ of the moment, so that he cannot help writing as if he did.

Mr. Wells tells us that he would be very unhappy under a dictatorship, but, nevertheless, in his new book he relies on a dictatorship to inaugurate the World States of the future.

There must be something very attractive in the idea of dictatorship, because it is spreading among men of all classes, rich or poor, extreme Conservatives and extreme Communists. Almost everybody who possesses a shirr is toying with the idea of himself as a dictator, with a forest of arms going up into the air every time he appears in public.

To be boss of the show and to get one's own way—how it appeals to the human heart from the nursery to senility!

HOW TO GET PEACE.

There are several explanations of the popularity of dictatorship. One is that human beings must have order at any price, and that the best way to produce order is to tell or otherwise incapacitate everybody who disagrees with you.

There can be no more orderly spectacle than a trussed and gagged man.

Another explanation is that this is the Age of Speed, and that the political machine is the only machine left which moves at the pace of the Age of the Horse. People believe in dictatorship because they believe that this means the exchange of the old station for a high-powered motorcar.

I am all for speeding up the political machine, but I do not see why it should be put in the hands of a dictator or dictators. A dictator seems to me to be the motor-bandit or roadhog of politics, careless of the lives and liberties of other people. He undoubtedly achieves speed, but other people pay for it. Even the best dictators have their casualties, like road-hogging. And the dictator always drives away after the accident and denies his responsibility for what has happened to the victim who is left lying by the roadside.

The Age of Speed, indeed, in politics as in transport, would be a curse rather than a blessing if a course rather than to guard steps, were not taken to guard against its peculiar dangers. The dictator is like a motorist with a powerful car, who is allowed to drive, without a licence, as recklessly as he likes, drunk or sober, and to obey no law of the road except his own.

If motorists were under as few restrictions as dictators, the worse kind of motorists would make travel on the roads almost impossible for others.

It may be argued that the dictator, like every autocratic ruler, is bound by very real restrictions—that he must behave in such a way as to please his followers—that ultimately his dictatorship must be based on the popular will. It is true that he must remain popular with his followers, but this usually means only that he shares his dictatorship with a well-organised minority of his fellow-citizens who forcibly prevent any attempt on the part of the majority to organise itself in opposition.

Caesar at the top is surrounded by sub-Caesars, and sub-sub-Caesars, and there is a sub-sub-sub Caesar strutting in every village. Caesar's position depends on the number of people whom he allows to fancy themselves as little Caesars.

Not that the chief objection to dictatorship is that it involves the rule of the minority. I should object to dictatorial methods even if the majority voted for them.

Democracy does not mean the rule of the majority; it means the rule of the majority tempered by respect for the liberty of the minority.

Thus, according to any reasonable theory of democracy the majority has not the right to order the minority to go to church or to abstain from going to church. The majority, again, has not the right to order the minority to drink beer, nor yet, in my opinion, has it the right to order the minority to drink water.

A Conservative majority would not have the right, even if it had the power, to suppress the Liberal or Labour Press, nor would a Liberal or Labour majority have the right to suppress the Conservative Press. There are fundamental liberties that have been secured only after generations of struggle, and a majority that tampered with them would be as hateful as any dictator.

The worst of a dictatorship, however, is that its very existence depends on the destruction of these liberties. It takes us back to an age when men were afraid to speak freely on religion and politics lest they should be punished, and when to differ from the official creed was to be branded as a heretic. It brings back persecution into the world—that vilest of all the diseases that ever attacked the spirit of man.

JUST A DISEASE.

It is true that it was quite pleasant to be alive in the ages of persecution—if you were on the side of the persecutors. It is still quite pleasant in this new age of persecution on the same conditions. It was the great discovery of democracy, however, that, for any one except a sadist, a great deal more pleasant is to be got out of life from tolerating one's opponents than from persecuting them.

Why, then, this growing impatience of opposition and this revival of the theory that an opposition is something to be swept from one's path and to be rendered permanently impotent—this increasing tendency to regard an opponent as a child of Satan?

It is due in some countries, as I have said, to the passionate desire to obtain results quickly and, in other countries, to the feeling that any sort of order is preferable to chaos.

The trouble about dictatorship is, however, that it cannot obtain even good results quickly without quickly destroying the equally good results obtained by the struggles of past ages.

I do not like organised political fanaticism any more than I like to increase the happiness of mankind. Yet what is dictatorship if we know it to-day but organised political fanaticism?

It is a disease from which any country ought to rejoice to be immune.

The Very Idea!

HOLY MOSES!

By Ed. Kelly, Bull Rusher

ACCORDING to a news item published on Saturday, the Evangelical Church in Saxony has banned the word "Hallelujah" from its service, because it is a Hebrew expression.

Which is Jews too bad. Still, it gives us a few ideas of our own.

For instance, we are going to ban everyone we owe money to, because the first people to whom money was owed were Jews.

There are several other things we intend to ban, but first of all we want to give you the real low down on the Jewish situation in Germany.

And when we say we're going to give you the low down, you'll find that nothing in the world is lower.

Jewish persecution really started when Moses was born. Pharaoh's daughter brought Moses home, saying she had found him in the bulrushes.

This was the origin of the now famous expression "Oh, yeah!"

Bull rushes are, even to-day, regarded with awe and veneration in some parts of the world. Spanish people flock to the arena to see the bull rush. In England a bull rush usually occurs in a field, while in Australia they invariably happen at cattle stations or ranches.

Hence the Australian slang term "A Fair Cow", gentlemen bulls preferring blondes.

Anyway, when Moses grew into manhood it was evident from the size of his nose that he was a Jew, and Pharaoh forgave his daughter.

Moses then set up as a money lender, and when Pharaoh defaulted on one of his loans, seized two or three pyramids as payment.

At this, Pharaoh was very wroth.

"Egypt me out of my pyramids," he cried. So Pharaoh declared war and seized all the Jewish women.

But the war didn't really start in earnest until Pharaoh, realising his mistake, tried to return the women to their husbands.

Despite all this, building boomed in Cairo. New pyramids were continually going up. It took thirty years to build a first class pyramid, but that was because the work was done by the P. W. D.

Moses and other men with initiative went into business and built pyramids of their own. Soon the supply became greater than the demand and there was a drop of pyramids on the market.

Which accounts for the fact that people stopped building them, and there are no professional pyramid builders in the world to-day.

Naturally this brings us back to Germany. We are going to keep a careful eye on the newspapers all this week, for any day now we expect to see something like this:

TELEGRAPH BANNED

Kelly Proved to Be Connected With the Cohens

Berlin, Monday.—Hitler has decided to impose a ban on the Hongkong Telegraph following the disclosure that one of its leading journalists is connected with Cohen, a famous Jew. It is known that Kelly was seen with Cohen in Paris, Africa, Hollywood, Scotland, and Trouble. Interviewed yesterday, Mr. Cohen said that he did not deny the imputation. "Despite the German ban, I am still Cohen strong," he said.

AUSTRALIAN PROTEST

Great Industry Threatened With Total Extinction

Sydney, Wednesday.—Mr. J. A. Lyons, the Prime Minister of Australia, has entered a protest against the latest German ban.

Interviewed by Reuters yesterday, Mr. Lyons said that an enormous export sale of Australian rabbits had been built up, and this was now threatened with extinction.

"Australia emphatically says that Germany must not be allowed to impose any ban on Rabbi Pie," he said.

It is understood that, unless this question is satisfactorily settled, an Australian test team will not visit England next year.

EINSTEIN'S THEORY

Germany Imposes Ban On Jewish Products

Berlin, Wednesday.—All relatives have been banned in Germany, commencing at midnight, to-morrow. Investigations have disclosed that the Theory of Relativity was invented by Einstein, a Jew.

Although official protests have been lodged in Berlin against this ban, it is understood that international sentiment is not altogether opposed to it.

Popular demonstrations in favour of the ban have been held in London, Paris, New York, Hongkong, and other centres, speakers pointing out that the ban would apply to mothers-in-law.

"You see, we don't want to discourage his talent."

THE UNITED THEATRES

Appointment of Receiver Ordered

COURT ACTION.

A motion for equitable relief, including the appointment of a receiver with full power and authority to conduct business of the United Theatres, Inc., was granted by Judge Milton D. Purdy last week in the U. S. Court for China, in the action of Ko Leong Hoo, Lo Kan, and twelve other Chinese stockholders, and China Brothers Co., against the United Theatres, Inc., which operates the Grand Theatre, Cathay Theatre, and several other cinemas and concerns doing motion picture business.

Dr. G. Sellett, for the plaintiffs, stated that defendants embarked on a Tls. 3,000,000 business with only Tls. 1,917,000 paid in. As a result, they experienced difficulties despite the fact that the Grand Theatre, was making $20,000 to 25,000 and Cathay Theatre, 5,000 a month. Since August 29, numerous liens amounting to Tls. 535,000 were filed against the defendants, while other suits not filed asked for payments amounting to Tls. 500,000. The assets of the defendants as a going concern exceeded the total of all their obligations by approximately Tls. 1,200,000. Should all actions against the defendants be permitted to go to judgment, the assets of the firm would be entirely consumed, and the creditors would not be paid in full. The motion for the appointment of a receiver was to save the business and the protection of interests of both creditors and stockholders.

NOMINATIONS MADE.

On the question as to who should be appointed the receiver, Dr. Sellett nominated Mr. R. W. Peters, while Mr. W. B. Harrington, for certain creditors, nominated Mr. H. F. Payne. After some argument, Dr. Sellett stated that the reason he objected to the appointment of Mr. Payne was that he had connections with a certain party obligated to the defendant firm to the amount of more than one million taels. In this connection, Dr. Sellett mentioned Mr. Grant Mark and said both Mr. Mark and Mr. Payne were officials of a certain concern which undertook to write approximately Tls. 3,000,000 shares to be paid in by December 31 this year. If all this money had been paid in, the defendant concern would not be in the difficulties it was now.

Judge Purdy reserved his decision as to who should be appointed the receiver.

Besides Dr. Sellett, other lawyers appearing included Mr. H. D. Rodger and Mr. M. Weiner for the defendant firm, Mr. F. J. Schuhl, Mr. N. E. Lurton, Dr. F. Wilhelm, Mr. P. Faison, Mr. C. P. Holcomb, Mr. W. B. Harrington, and Mr. N. F. Allman for the creditors.

DETAILS OF COMPLAINT.

Following are extracts from the complaint:

The defendants were organised on or about January 22, 1932, and have an authorised capital stock of one million shares of the par value of Tls. 5 per share, making a total authorised capital of Tls. 5,000,000. To the date of filing this complaint approximately 383,400 shares have been issued. Of the Tls. 1,917,000 paid in for the issued shares, the fourteen complainants held Tls. 504,500.

At the time the firm was organised, the directors and officers of defendants made plans for carrying on business which would require a paid-in capital of Tls. 3,000,000 and in carrying out these plans incurred obligations and expenses which could be currently met only if approximately Tls. 3,000,000 of shares of the capital stock were issued and paid up. In consequence, the defendants experienced difficulties. Several suits have been filed by creditors demanding payment of sums aggregating approximately $750,000. The contractors and material-men who built and furnished the Grand Theatre have also filed suits against defendants and a bill in equity has been filed praying for the sale of the theatre to satisfy one of said liens. Other secured and unsecured creditors of the defendants, having claims amounting to approximately $500,000, are pressing for payment of their claims. There is also rent due and unpaid covering a period of about one and two-thirds months in the sum of approximately $30,013.23, payable to the owner of the land upon which the Grand Theatre is situated, and a civil suit has been filed in the Court against defendants by the landlord for repossession of the land and Grand Theatre for an alleged breach of the covenant of the lease.

Should all the above-mentioned suits be allowed to proceed and result in judgments, seizures, and forced sales of all the property of defendants, the defendants would be compelled to cease conducting

WHEN IS A MAN DRUNK?

THE DOCTOR'S DILEMMA

TESTS THAT MAY MISLEAD

The difficult question of what is a reliable test of drunkenness is again raised by the statement of a doctor at Groydon that he took it as a sign of a motorist being under the influence of drink, that he could not touch his own nose when his eyes were shut.

As things stand at present no satisfactory scientific test of drunkenness exists.

Tests at present used may be divided into two groups: Various things which the accused is called upon to do, and various examinations made by the doctor.

In the former group may be included such things as Walking along a straight line, Touching the nose with a finger with the eyes shut.

Standing on one leg with the eyes shut and the hands held above the head.

Writing down a sentence, and Pronouncing certain test sentences supposed to present certain difficulties for the tongue.

It may be said at once that many normal persons, attempting these tests in the quietude of their homes, would fail to gain anything like a 100 per cent. success. When the accused is called upon to carry out such tests in a police station, after a road accident or after the distasteful publicity attendant upon arrest, it is scarcely surprising that failure is not uncommon even if the soberness of the examinee is beyond question.

The second group of tests presents much the same difficulties. The doctor may examine the pupils of the eyes, count the pulse, test the nerve reflexes, and ask certain questions to test the memory of the accused, and at the end of it all be left wondering how much importance to attach to positive results.

A BLOOD TEST.

The smell of alcohol in the breath is notoriously unreliable, but great hope has been expressed in recent years that some method of estimating the amount of alcohol in the blood would provide concrete evidence of drunkenness. So far the test proposed has not been adopted, and, in any case, there would be the great difficulty of determining the personal idiosyncrasies to alcohol.

Finally, there arises the problem that other conditions may closely simulate drunkenness. Other drugs may sometimes produce similar effects, while there was not long ago a tragic case of a doctor found guilty of being drunk who was actually a diabetic subject who had had an overdose of insulin a short time previously.

Lack of control or "inco-ordination" is common to many conditions, and it is this which most of the tests for drunkenness reveal.

While the medical profession as a whole attempts this somewhat unsavoury part of its duties with the knowledge that injustice is rare in drunkenness cases, there is a definite feeling of dissatisfaction with the present position.

RELIEF IN EQUITY.

Upon the intervention of the court and the granting of the equitable relief prayed for, including the appointment of a receiver, the business can be profitably conducted so that in a reasonable period of time the just claims and demands of all creditors can be fully met and the value of the stock of the corporation preserved and protected for the benefit of its stockholders.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

OUR WISDOM IS NO LESS AT FORTUNE'S MERCY THAN OUR WEALTH. —Roche for Gauld.

Knocked down by a motor cycle at the junction of Argyle Street and Nathan Road on Saturday afternoon, Lam Sap (65), a Chinese male, was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital. His condition is not serious.

Yung Kau, a cook employed by the Chinese mess at the No. 2 (Wanchai) Police Station, was removed to Hospital yesterday, suffering from scalds received through a pot of boiling water being accidentally upset.

BRAINS OVER-ESTIMATED COMMODITY

SAYS A YOUNG MINER GRADUATE

London.

"Brains are really a most over-estimated commodity. We don't want human beings capable of mental gymnastics, we want human beings who can live."

This is the opinion of Mr. G. V. Keeling, the 32-year-old miner, who has just taken an honour degree in economics at London University.

Mr. Keeling gained a wonderful series of scholarships to enable him to take his degree and he told Reuter that this first change came from winning the miners' national scholarship valued at £1,000 when he was unemployed.

"Down there in the mine," he said, "the scale of values is different from that of the world above. It is on a purely physical plane. I was in that mine drawing 9s 10d. a day stripped to the waist, streaming with sweat, risking injury and knowing that at any moment death may come. Yet as miners work they sing—it is rather absurd when they have so little to sing about, but they do!"

Mr. Keeling has now left the mine for good.—Reuter.

FLYING OVER VESUVIUS

IN GLIDER FOR 20 MINUTES

GREAT FEAT BY AUSTMAN

Berlin.

Robert—Kronfeld, the famous Austrian glider pilot, has achieved another success by being the first person to fly for twenty minutes in a glider over the active crater of Vesuvius.

In the periodical "Luftreise" (Air Travel) Kronfeld describes his experiences over the huge cauldron.

"My flight lasted four and a half hours. The atmospheric conditions were very good and enabled me to glide comparatively low over the crater.

"A hellish furnace, continuously varying in colour, screened from view at intervals by heavy smoke clouds, spat out simmering lava, a few hundred feet below me. Suddenly flashes of lightning accompanied by thunder would shatter the rumbling noises of Vesuvius and the lava would burst into flame.

"It was a wonderful and impressive adventure which many times surpasses the thrill of establishing a new record."—Reuter.

FRANCO-AMERICAN BARTER PLAN

COTTON FOR FRENCH GOODS

New York, Sept. 20.

The American banker Neideker, who returned recently from a trip to Paris, is to go, according to the Journal of Commerce, to Washington with the object of negotiating there the purchase of three million bales of American cotton in exchange for French merchandise. It is added by the Journal that the two governments would accord credits to the merchants concerned.

All knowledge of this transaction is denied by well informed French circles, and American cotton dealers also declare that they are not aware of it. It is remarked in some circles that the figure of three million is either erroneous or fantastic, as France does not consume more than from seven or eight hundred thousand bales of cotton.—Havas.

NAZIS FLOG JEW

OWNER OF BIG BERLIN STORE

TWO DAYS IN BARRACKS

Berlin, Aug. 17.

Although outrages by the Brown Shirts against Jews and others, are frowned at by the authorities and by the Nazi leaders, they have by no means ceased entirely as is shown by a case a few days ago, the accuracy of which can be vouched for.

The owner of a big Berlin store, a Jew, who does not want his name mentioned, was in his office when two leaders of the firm's "employees' Cell" accompanied by four uniformed Brown Shirts entered all armed with revolvers.

The employees accused their chief of having Republican pamphlets in a box in a cellar, and without listening to his explanation the Brown Shirts took him and his nephew to their barracks.

Two days later, the two men were released on the intervention of high officials, but not before they had been shockingly beaten. Their backs were torn into ribbons by floggings inflicted by the Brown Shirts, who tied them up whilst they administered the beating.

Over 350 persons were confined in the barracks, and many of them had been there for weeks.

AMERICAN SURGEON ASSAULTED

FAILURE TO GIVE FASCIST SALUTE

Berlin, Aug. 17.

An American surgeon, Doctor Mulvihill, of Long Island Medical College, who is studying in Berlin under the great German surgeon, Doctor Sauerbruch, received a severe blow on the head from a Nazi in Unter-den-Linden on Tuesday night.

The torchlight procession into Berlin of January 30 was being staged once more at the Brandenburger Tor for the Horst Wessel film, and Dr. Mulvihill pressed through the crowd to the kerb to see what was happening.

He did not raise his hand in the Fascist salute as the Horst Wessel song was sung, and a Nazi therefore struck him on the head. He has complained to the American Consulate.

This incident draws attention to the fact that failure to join in the Fascist salute when the German national anthem or the Horst Wessel song are played is now considered a disturbance of the peace.

"NO LACK OF BRUTALITY."

The Burgomaster of Nuremberg stated yesterday in the Municipal Council that it was no concern of the municipality if officials dismissed on account of Jewish descent or as being politically unreliable were hanged or shot themselves. They would only have committed suicide because they had been swine for 10 years.

It required a considerable measure of brutality to carry out the law and there was no lack of it. One hundred and eight officials and 68 workers had already been dismissed, 32 of them because of Jewish descent; 70 more officials and 12 workers were still to go, and the purge of the teaching staff had scarcely begun.

AMAZING FEAT.

Player Holes Two Tee Shots In One Day.

UNPARALLELED FEAT.

Newcastle, County Down, Sept. 23. —Eric Fiddian, the ex-English Amateur golf champion, accomplished an unparalleled feat in the final of the Irish Open Amateur Championship by becoming the first man to hole two tee shots on one day.

At the seventh hole, a distance of 128 yards, Fiddian's mangle public shot from the tee bounced a foot from the hole and trickled into the cup. In the second round—Fiddian used a No. 2 iron at the fourteenth hole and sank his shot from a distance of 205 yards.

Despite Fiddian's remarkable performance, Jack McGeehan, the Scottish champion, won by three up and two down after leading by two holes at the end of the first round.—Reuter.

NO BODY-LINE FOR INDIA.

M. C. C. Instructions To D. R. Jardine.

RULE IN AUSTRALIA.

London, Sept. 23.

The M.C.C.'s instruction to Douglas Jardine, according to the Daily Telegraph, is that he is not to use body-line bowling during the tour of India.

Jardine is taking sixteen players to India on the P. & O. Mooltan which left Tilbury on Friday.

Body-Line in Australia.

Sydney, Sept. 23. —The Inter-State Cricket Conference has adopted the body-line bowling rule which the Board of Control suggested to the M.C.C. on April 28 last. It is understood that the New South Wales Delegates voted against the proposal.

The rule states:—Any ball delivered, which, in the opinion of the umpire at the bowler's end, has been bowled at the batsman with intent to intimidate or injure him, shall be considered unfair and a no ball shall be called, and the bowler notified of the reason. If the offence is repeated by the same bowler in the same innings he will be instructed by the umpire to cease bowling, and the over shall be regarded as completed. In this case the bowler will not again be permitted to bowl during the innings.

The meeting of the Board of Control has been adjourned until February 2, 1934 when the Australian team for the English tour will be selected.—Reuter.

S. AFRICA AND BODYLINENOT TO LEGISLATEAPPEAL MADE TO CAPTAINSTYPE OF BOWLING
DEPRECATED

Johannesburg, Sept. 24.
South Africa has added its voice of protest against the practice of body-line bowling, but it does not take the form of legislation, but merely a resolution deprecating the deliberate use of any style of bowling liable to intimidate or injure batsmen.

According to a Reuter message, the South African Cricket Association has decided not to follow Australia's example of legislating against body-line bowling.

The Association has, however, passed a resolution, deprecating the deliberate use of bowling liable to intimidate or injure a batsman.

APPEAL TO CAPTAINS.
The Association expresses the opinion that this undesirable practice should not be counteracted by giving the umpires greater powers.

Nevertheless, the Association appeals to all Unions to use their best endeavours to discourage the use of such bowling and trusts that all captains will always exercise their authority to maintain the spirit of the game.

FOOTBALL REVIEWED
ARMY OUTPLAYED AT ALL POINTS
BY SOUTH CHINA

With the league season opening next Saturday, football was the order of the day during the week-end, and several matches were played, including the important meeting between South China and the Army.

Reports of some of the games will be found below. The results in brief were:

S. China	5	Army	1
H.K.F.C.	1	Lincolns	7
Kowloon	9	St. Joseph's	0
Club "A"	2	Lincolns "A"	5
Recreio	2	Kowloon "A"	0

LINCOLNS SHOW

POOR DISPLAY BY CLUB FORWARDS

A curious reversal of form by the Hongkong Football Club teams on Saturday did nothing to pacify the disquiet of their supporters; yet it would be unfair to make an unqualified condemnation of the teams' displays.

The Club ran up against the Lincolns with the soldiers at the point of their form, and even South China would have had a hard task in conquering them. The first eleven were especially brilliant and in winning 7-1 were in no way flattered.

True, the Club's attempts to counter the Lincolns' dour defenders and foraging forwards were not particularly bright and most certainly the work of the whole team fell far below that shown in the two previous matches this season.

But it has to be recognised that the Lincolns, indulging in that early dash and skill which generates match-winning confidence, played a Grade football throughout.

SUPERIOR HALVES.
Their real superiority was to be found in the half back and forward lines. Positional changes in the vanguard made a tremendous difference. Cpl. McGuinness occupied the leadership with rare success, but Ridley was the real brains of the attack, and if this form is any true criterion for the approaching league season, I can see Interport honours coming his way.

The Lincolns quickly discovered a weakness in the Club intermediates and made the utmost of it. Baldry and Hocquard, finding they could clearly outpace Duncan and Watson, satisfied themselves with this method of attack, and in consequence an impossible burden was placed on Syd. Strange and Desmond Hynes, the Club's full backs. In addition these players were handicapped in the knowledge that Hills, the new custodian, was anything but confident.

Under the circumstances both gave extremely capable displays and could not be blamed for having the goal pierced seven times.

FORWARDS FAIL.
The most unaccountable feature of the Club was the wretchedness of the forwards. All idea of cohesion went by the board; and Dudley, Cork and Betts, the Lincolns' half backs found it easy to smother the individualistic movements of Howe and his colleagues.

Bickford and Howe occasionally sounded a warning note with a burst through, but the soldiers' defence saw to it that the danger did not develop.

The Lincolns were three up at the interval, Ridley (2) and Hocquard scoring, whilst further goals by McGuinness (2) Ridley and Harding saw the soldiers make the total up to seven before Fowler obtained the Club's solitary goal in the closing minutes.

Team:—Lincolns:—Heath; Turner and Roden; Dudley, Cork and Betts; Baldry, Harding, McGuinness; Ridley and Hocquard.

Club:—Hills; Hynes and S. Strange; Watson, Skinner and Duncan; Fowler, Williams, Howe, E. Strange, and Bickford.

NON-TITLE BOUT.

Young Stribling Wins From Maxie Rosenbloom.

Houston, Texas, Sept. 23.
Making his first appearance in the ring since he was injured while training for his fight against Don McCord, Young Stribling, narrowly outpointed Maxie Rosenbloom, world light-heavyweight champion, in a ten round non-title bout here to-day. — Reuter.

Yesterday's football match at Caroline Hill between South China and the Army offered a typical commentary on the essential distinction between the Chinese and European teams in Hongkong.

The soldiers enjoyed a territorial advantage for two thirds of the game yet they could only score once against South China's five goals.

The Army showed a deplorable lack of finish, whereas the odds against the Chinese from scoring when on the move were never more than two to one. And this in spite of the absence of Fung King-cheung and Ip Pak-wa.

It is difficult to say to what extent the forthcoming visit of South China to Nanking is going to affect their prospects in the local league, but on yesterday's showing I fail to see any team capable of wresting the championship from them.

The Army turned out about the strongest team possible and were beaten at all points. Their best playing methods earned for them a bigger share of the game, but the forwards failed to show sufficient initiative and push to overcome the Li Tin-sang, Lau Mau and Wong Wah-kwai combination.

Fourty was dashing, but too well marked to become a danger, and Allan, the Interport right back, though responsible for a couple of splendid shots, was obviously out of place at inside right. Baldry and Hocquard on the wings were badly neglected, and Harding was not a successful substitute for Ridley at inside left.

The only Army players to justify themselves were Mullane, Podmore and Morrison, whilst Combe performed quite creditably in goal.

SPLENDID BALANCE.
South China showed splendid balance. There was not a weak spot in the team. Wong Wah-kwai is going to prove a worthy successor to Lim Thin-chai in goal.

But the real brilliance was to be found in the forward line. Young Shui-yick, four feet of brains and skill, gave a delightful display on the right wing. Time and again he waltzed round Cork and Morrison and his centres were models.

Tam Kong-pak was in his element and I have never seen him play better. He scored two very clever goals and was constantly threatening danger to Mullane and his colleagues.

Wong Mee-shun was fairly well held individually, but he invariably managed to get the ball out to Yeung and it was this virile right wing which caused the Army defence lots of anxious moments.

South China were three up at the interval, goals being scored by Wong Mee-shun (penalty), Yeung Shui-yick and Tam Kong-pak, and two further goals were added after the interval by Tam and Wong before the Army scored their only point through Fourty.

Teams:
South China:—Wong Wah-kwai; Li Tin-sang and Lau Mau; Leung In-chun, Leung Wing-chui and Lee Kwok-wai; Yeung Shui-yick, Wong Mee-shun, Pau Kai-ping, Tam Kong-pak and Tong Kwan.

Army:—Combe; Mullane and Morrison; Podmore, Pardoe and Cork; Baldry, Allan, Fourty, Harding and Hocquard.

Percy Alliss Successful
In Purley Tournament.

A GERMAN SUCCESS.

Purley, Surrey, Sept. 23.
Percy Alliss of Beaconsfield, who is the holder of the German Open Championship, beat Mark Seymour of Groswold, the Scottish champion, by five up and four to play over 36 holes in the final of the News of the World Thousand Guineas Golf Tournament. Alliss led by three holes at the ninth and one at the 18th. He was two up at the 27th hole. — Reuter.

BETTER AND

VIRILE KOWLOON
VANGUARD

Kowloon's re-arrangements in the team against St. Joseph's on Saturday appeared to have the desired effect. Anyway they won handsomely, and without attaching too much importance to the score, it can with some justification be claimed that the Peninsula men gave a distinctly promising account of themselves.

V. White was unable to turn out and this meant a reshuffling of the forward line, with excellent results. Owen Davies was brought into the team, occupying the right wing, G. White came in as his partner and Hills and Blake formed the left wing. Elliott retained the pivotal position and this quintette fairly played the Saints' defence to a standstill.

Perhaps, however, one of the most gratifying features of the game from the Kowloon viewpoint, was the form of the half back line. Webb greatly strengthened this section and with Jones, playing well within himself yet in complete control of Saints' inside trio, and Bliss, better than ever on the left flank, the old college boys found it impossible to make much progress in attack.

NO DEFENCE.

Many old faces were to be recognised in the St. Joseph's line up, but their customary skill was sadly lacking. Quite obviously the Gosano brothers were missed, but the real weakness was in defence.

After last year's experience one would have expected some improvement here.

Kowloon so dominated the exchanges, that for the most part they were shooting in goal.

It is a noteworthy fact that every one of the Kowloon forwards found the net. Hill helped himself to three goals, Elliott two, Blake, White, Davies and Bliss one each, making the Kowloon tally nine.

Teams:
Kowloon:—Gurevitch; Willis and Gough; Webb, Jones and Bliss; O. Davies, G. White, Elliott, Hill and Blake.

St. Joseph's:—Marques Gomes and Lawrence; Fernandes, Costa and V. Marques; Sabban, Roche, D. Leonard, A. Ward and Laurel.

FURTHER LAURELS.

BEATS JIRO SATOH.

Los Angeles, Sept. 23.
Fresh from his victory in the American National tennis championships, Fred Perry, the leading British player added further to his laurels when he captured the Pacific South-west title by defeating Jiro Satoh in the final.

The two players met last year in the final. Perry won to-day by 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5.

In the semi-final Perry eliminated L. R. Stoecken by 6-0, 6-0, 6-1, while Satoh beat Jack Tidball, conqueror of Ellsworth Vines, by 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Miss Dorothy Round won the Ladies' Singles Championship when she beat Miss Alice Marble in the final by 6-2, 6-2. — Reuter.

Mixed Doubles.
Perry slipped and twisted his ankle near the finish of his match with Satoh and he played with a bandaged ankle in the Mixed Doubles final in which Ellsworth Vines and Miss E. Ryan beat Perry and Miss Dorothy Round by 6-1, 6-1. — Reuter.

In the women's Doubles final Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Miss Alice Marble beat Miss Dorothy Round and Miss Mary Healey 6-1, 6-2. — Reuter.

HARBOUR RACE &
GALAS

LEADING RESULTS

Hongkong's aquatic enthusiasts had a veritable carnival during the week-end, when in addition to the H.K.I.S.A. Harbour Race held yesterday, no fewer than four aquatic meetings took place.

The Harbour Race provided no surprise results. W. T. Campbell of the Y.M.C.A. won the men's event as expected, covering the distance in 28 minutes 9.4/5 seconds, while Miss Yeung Sau-ling carried off the Ladies race, winning in the time of 31 minutes 47.1/5 seconds.

Thirteen of the sixteen starters in the men's event finished the course, and all five of the women competitors accomplished a similar performance.

The first three to finish in both races were:

MEN'S

1. W. T. Campbell (Y.M.C.A.)
2. Kwok Chun-hang (South China A.A.)
3. Wong Yu-nan (South China A.A.)

LADIES

1. Miss Yeung Sau-ling (South China A.A.)
2. M. S. Yeung Sau-chun (South China A.A.)
3. Miss Dora Lum (Chung Sing)

COLLEGE CHAMPIONS.

In the St. Paul's College swimming sports, Lau Ping-pui won the College championship by finishing first in the 40 yards, 100 yards, and 100 yards back stroke.

The second annual meeting of the Chung Nam College held at the S.C.A.A., yesterday the individual championship was shared by Chan Chen-nam and Au Yeung-cho.

H. L. Ozorio won the University swimming championship on Saturday, and he was mainly instrumental in Ricci Hostel carrying off the Inter-Hotel Championship.

Ozorio won the 100 yards free style championship, the 440 yards free style, 220 yards free style and the 380 yards free style.

POST OFFICE ROBBERY.

IRON SAFE

The mysterious disappearance of a sum of about $1,587 in banknotes from a safe situated behind the central counter of General Post Office is engaging the attention of the police, who were called in early on Saturday morning to investigate the robbery.

The money was found missing when the clerk opened the safe to begin his duties in the morning. There was a sum of about $3,500 in the safe at the time, and some stamps, but these were not touched, the thief merely contenting himself with taking the banknotes.

A very significant aspect of the robbery is that there were no marks of damage on the safe, which leads the police to believe that the thief or thieves must have used a duplicate key.

The method of entry into the office also seems to be very mysterious, as it was impossible for the robbery to have been committed in broad daylight, situated as the safe is in the general view of all the clerks and persons entering the Post Office to buy stamps. There is a bright light above the safe.

Mr. W. J. Carrie, the Post Master General, when interviewed by a representative of the South China Morning Post, expressed the opinion that the thief or thieves must have concealed themselves in the office before the closing of the doors on Friday evening, and committed the robbery at their leisure, walking out when the doors were opened on Saturday morning. There is good reason to believe this must have been the case, because none of the doors had been forced open or the locks tampered with.

No suspicion attaches to any of the clerks, for the money was all intact when the day's work was over.

The police are busy making investigations, but so far no arrests have been made.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST,
SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was: "Behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind" (Isaiah 65:17).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright.... For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth.... By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth.... The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations" (Ps. 33:1,4,6,11).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To grasp the reality and order of being in its science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine Principle of all that really is.... There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause" (pp.276,207).

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Is Diana Wynyard, the lovely English girl, who has created a sensation in Hollywood's film of Noel Coward's "Cavalcade" to share the martyrdom of the low film beauties who seem fated to grow prematurely old? Cinemasgoers will be able to form their own conclusions when they see the film at the King's Theatre to-day.

For months the Fox Company secured for an English girl who could be expected to give a true characterization of the dignified, austere Jane Marryot who is the chief character in "Cavalcade."

Tests proved that even the best that the stage could offer would in no way satisfy the film camera.

Then Diana Wynyard, at that time unknown in Hollywood, was tested. She went before the camera as the young Jane Marryot of 1890, fresh, young wife and mother, into whose life a lone shadow was cast by dark Africa.

The result of the test was electrifying: here was a striking new star, a pure English type with great dramatic force, and with regal dignity substantiated in the best British womanhood.

But Hollywood still doubted whether Miss Wynyard could play the part. For Jane Marryot she must be able to start her performance at the age of 32 and end it as a woman of 65.

With faint hopes they asked 20-year-old Diana to show them, she could do with the character of Jane Marryot aged 65. Clothes, make-up, and art combined in the making of the most astonishing film test turned out of the experimental studios of Hollywood.

Diana, as the whole film world now acknowledges, was Jane Marryot. Not only the Jane of 1900 with two young children, but the bereaved, elderly and childless Jane of 1932. Her greatest hope is that her great "Cavalcade" success will not result in a long succession of "old woman" parts.

With her in "Cavalcade" are Clive Brook, Irene Browne, Herbert Marshall, and Una O'Connor who also goes with the story. Other British artists in the film include Frank Lawton, Ursula Jeans, Merle Tottenham, Margaret Lindsay, and Tempe Pigott. All are British.

"The White Sister"

A new contribution to the list of imposing screen achievements came yesterday to the Queen's Theatre in the presentation of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's talking-picture version of "The White Sister" with Helen Hayes and Clark Gable in the principal roles.

In its poignant, touching narrative, its beautiful direction, its effective camera work and in the brilliant performances of its two well-known stars, this picture stands out forcibly as an example of the best in cinema art.

F. Marion Crawford's immortal story of the girl who enters a convent when she believes her lover to be dead only to meet him again after she has taken her holy vows is too well known to bear repetition in these columns. Sufficient to say that the new talking version of the tale brings out its most forceful moments, describes the experiences of the romantic Italian girl and her soldier-lover in a series of warm sympathetic, human episodes and brings the narrative to a close in as heartrending a climax as has been seen on the screen in some time.

"Infernal Machine"

Chartered accountant, actor, war veteran with five years' service, director of stage plays and motion pictures in two languages are some of the activities Marcel Varnel has crowded into thirty-eight busy years.

A native of Paris he was educated in Chapl College there, at Charter House, London, and the French Conservatory of Dramatic Arts in his home city.

There he took a business course in college and qualified as an expert accountant.

His father wanted him to follow in his footsteps as manager of the Paris markets, but young Varnel preferred the stage. After playing a variety of roles for three years, he became a stage director, staging plays with such famous actresses as Duse and Rejane.

He entered the war as a private and was discharged five years later as a first lieutenant. He was twice taken prisoner by the Germans, but escaped each time after recovering from his injuries.

In 1925 he came to America and directed "Countess Maritza," "Circus

Princess," "Sunny Days," "Street Singers," "Ladies All," "As You Desire Me."

He signed a Fox contract in 1931 and his present production, a comedy romance, the "Infernal Machine," opening next Wednesday at the King's Theatre, with Chester Morris and Genevieve Tobin featured, together with Victor Jory, is the third he has directed. His others were "The Silent Witness" and "Chandu the Magician." Advance notices state that the "Infernal Machine" adapted from a novel by Carl Sloboda outdistances all his other work because of its sustained humorous quality and pictorial charm.

"Gabriel Over the White House"

Those who look for motion picture entertainment permeated with the tense, authentic melodrama of actual happenings in to-day's news will find "Gabriel Over the White House," new Cosmopolitan-Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production coming on Thursday to the Queen's Theatre one of the outstanding talkie events of the year.

This picture was adapted from the most daring expose of Washington ever written. Its anonymous author knew his politics and at the same time weaved into his story of a United States President who steps out and does something about current problems an unusually gripping human theme.

Headed by Walter Huston as the President who overnight is transformed from an insincere, back-slapping politician to a man of iron, the distinguished cast of "Gabriel Over the White House" includes Karen Morley, Franchot Tone, Arthur Byron, Dick Moore, C. Henry Gordon, David Landau, Samuel Hinds, William Pawley, Jean Parker and Claire DuBrey.

The drama, starts with the inauguration of the simple, back-country man, Jud Hammond, who becomes the Hon. Judson Hammond, President of the United States. His first press conference shows him to be a typical politician, jovial, insincere, evasive, unwilling to cope courageously with national problems. He is injured in an accident and on his return to work following a long period of illness which has given him time to think things over, he becomes a new Judson Hammond, hard instead of soft, decisive instead of vacillating.

He fires the Secretary of War and asks for the resignation of his entire cabinet when they hesitate to support his moves to relieve the Unemployment Army. He demands that Congress give him the powers of a dictator. He fights directly with the "king" of the racketeers and through a federal police force wipes him out. He forces an International Debt Congress, not behind closed doors but on the deck of a yacht where a graphic demonstration of how quickly warcraft may be destroyed by airplanes leads to debt payment via sums saved in disarmament.

ARMY VETERAN

SIR WILLIAM PITCAIRN
CAMPBELL DEAD

The death is announced of Lieut-General Sir William Pittcairn Campbell, late Colonel in the Highland Light Infantry, at the age of 77.—Our Own Correspondent.

Sir William was the son of Mr. J. Pittcairn Campbell of Beomands, Chertsey, and received his education at Eton and Sandhurst. He entered the Army in 1876 in the King's Royal Rifles and was promoted to the rank of Captain ten years later. He was made Major in 1893 and seven years afterwards was given the rank of Lieut-Colonel. In the same year he was raised to the rank of Colonel.

Sir William served with the Mounted Infantry Camel Corps in Sudan from 1884 to 1885 and took part in the battle of Abu-Klea. During this period he was the recipient of a medal with two clasps and the bronze star. In South Africa, from 1899 until 1901, he was in command of the 1st Battalion of the King's Royal Rifles and a Column in Eastern Transvaal. He was three times mentioned in despatches, awarded the Queen's medal with six clasps and appointed A.D.C. to His Majesty the King with the brevet of Colonel. Returning to England he commanded the 3rd Brigade, Aldershot Command, from 1904 to 1908 and the 5th Division, Irish Command, from 1909 to 1913. On August 4, 1914 he was made G.O.C. in Chief of the Southern Command, a post he relinquished on his appointment as G.O.C. of the Western Command on March 7, 1916. This latter rank he held until August 1918. In 1918 he became Colonel of the 4th Battalion King's Royal Rifles and was Colonel of the 2nd Battalion after the disbandment of the 4th Battalion.

Sir William's first wife, the daughter of the late Mr. Charles Prothero, of Langbly Castle, Monmouth, died in 1919. In the following year he married the widow of Mr. Thomas Tomlinson, of Kent Road, Grange-over-Sands, a daughter of the late Mr. David Scott Threshie, W.S., of Edinburgh.

POST OFFICE HEARS MANY COMPLAINTS

London, Sept. 24. The General Post Office is receiving a perpetual string of complaints from business men over the delay encountered by trans-Siberian mails to China, and officials explain that they are powerless to correct a situation which is created by China's refusal to accept mail bags from Manchukuo.

China's refusal to take delivery of mails through Manchukuo channels is based upon her unwillingness to recognise the state politically.

Vladivostok and Japan are thus the only routes available to post office authorities in sending mail to China via Siberia.

Business men, interviewed here, urge that diplomatic representations be made to China, pointing out to the Chinese Government that they are damaging their own trade unnecessarily by their refusal to accept the Manchukuo post office mail consignments.—Reuter.

MR. CUNLIFF-LISTER'S HINT TO BAHAMAS

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 23. Replying to a request of the Bahamas Legislature for permission to raise tariffs against Japanese textiles, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Secretary of State for the Colonies, stated that the Anglo-Japanese treaty precluded discriminatory tariffs against Japan.

He urged the Legislature to undertake no measures pending the outcome of the Anglo-Japanese negotiations.—Reuter.

COOLIE MURDERED.

Apparently the victim of a clan feud, Mau Hon, 30, a coal coolie, was found murdered at Sheung Shui yesterday afternoon. The body had been half buried in loose soil, and when found, a rope was tied tightly round the

HUNGER STRIKE

REICHSTAG TRIAL SENSATION

Leipzig, Sept. 23. When the Reichstag Fire trial was resumed this morning, there was an atmosphere of tense expectancy in the Court.

Van der Lubbe one of the principal accused has created a fresh sensation by refusing to eat. His Dutch counsel, Dr. Stomper, obtained permission, at the opening of this morning's proceedings for a doctor to sit beside his client in Court.

In the meantime, Van der Lubbe maintains his habitual lifeless attitude, his head bent and shoulders drooping. An occasional enigmatic smile crosses his lips. When Georgi Dimitroff, the 41-year-old author and Bulgarian Communist leader was called to give evidence, he admitted that he had read in foreign papers that he had been sentenced to death by a Bulgarian court during his absence.—Reuter.

Journalist's Arrested.

Leipzig, Sept. 23. Two prominent Russian journalists, Madame Lili Kith, Berlin correspondent of Izvestia, and Herr Bespalov, Berlin correspondent of the Tass Agency, were summoned from their beds at 7 a.m. to-day, taken to Police Headquarters, stripped naked and searched for weapons and documents.

The Secretary of the Russian Embassy intervened and the two journalists were released in the afternoon.

The Police Chief apologised. Russian journalists were not admitted to the Reichstag fire trial.—Reuter.

neck, and the hands and feet were securely bound.

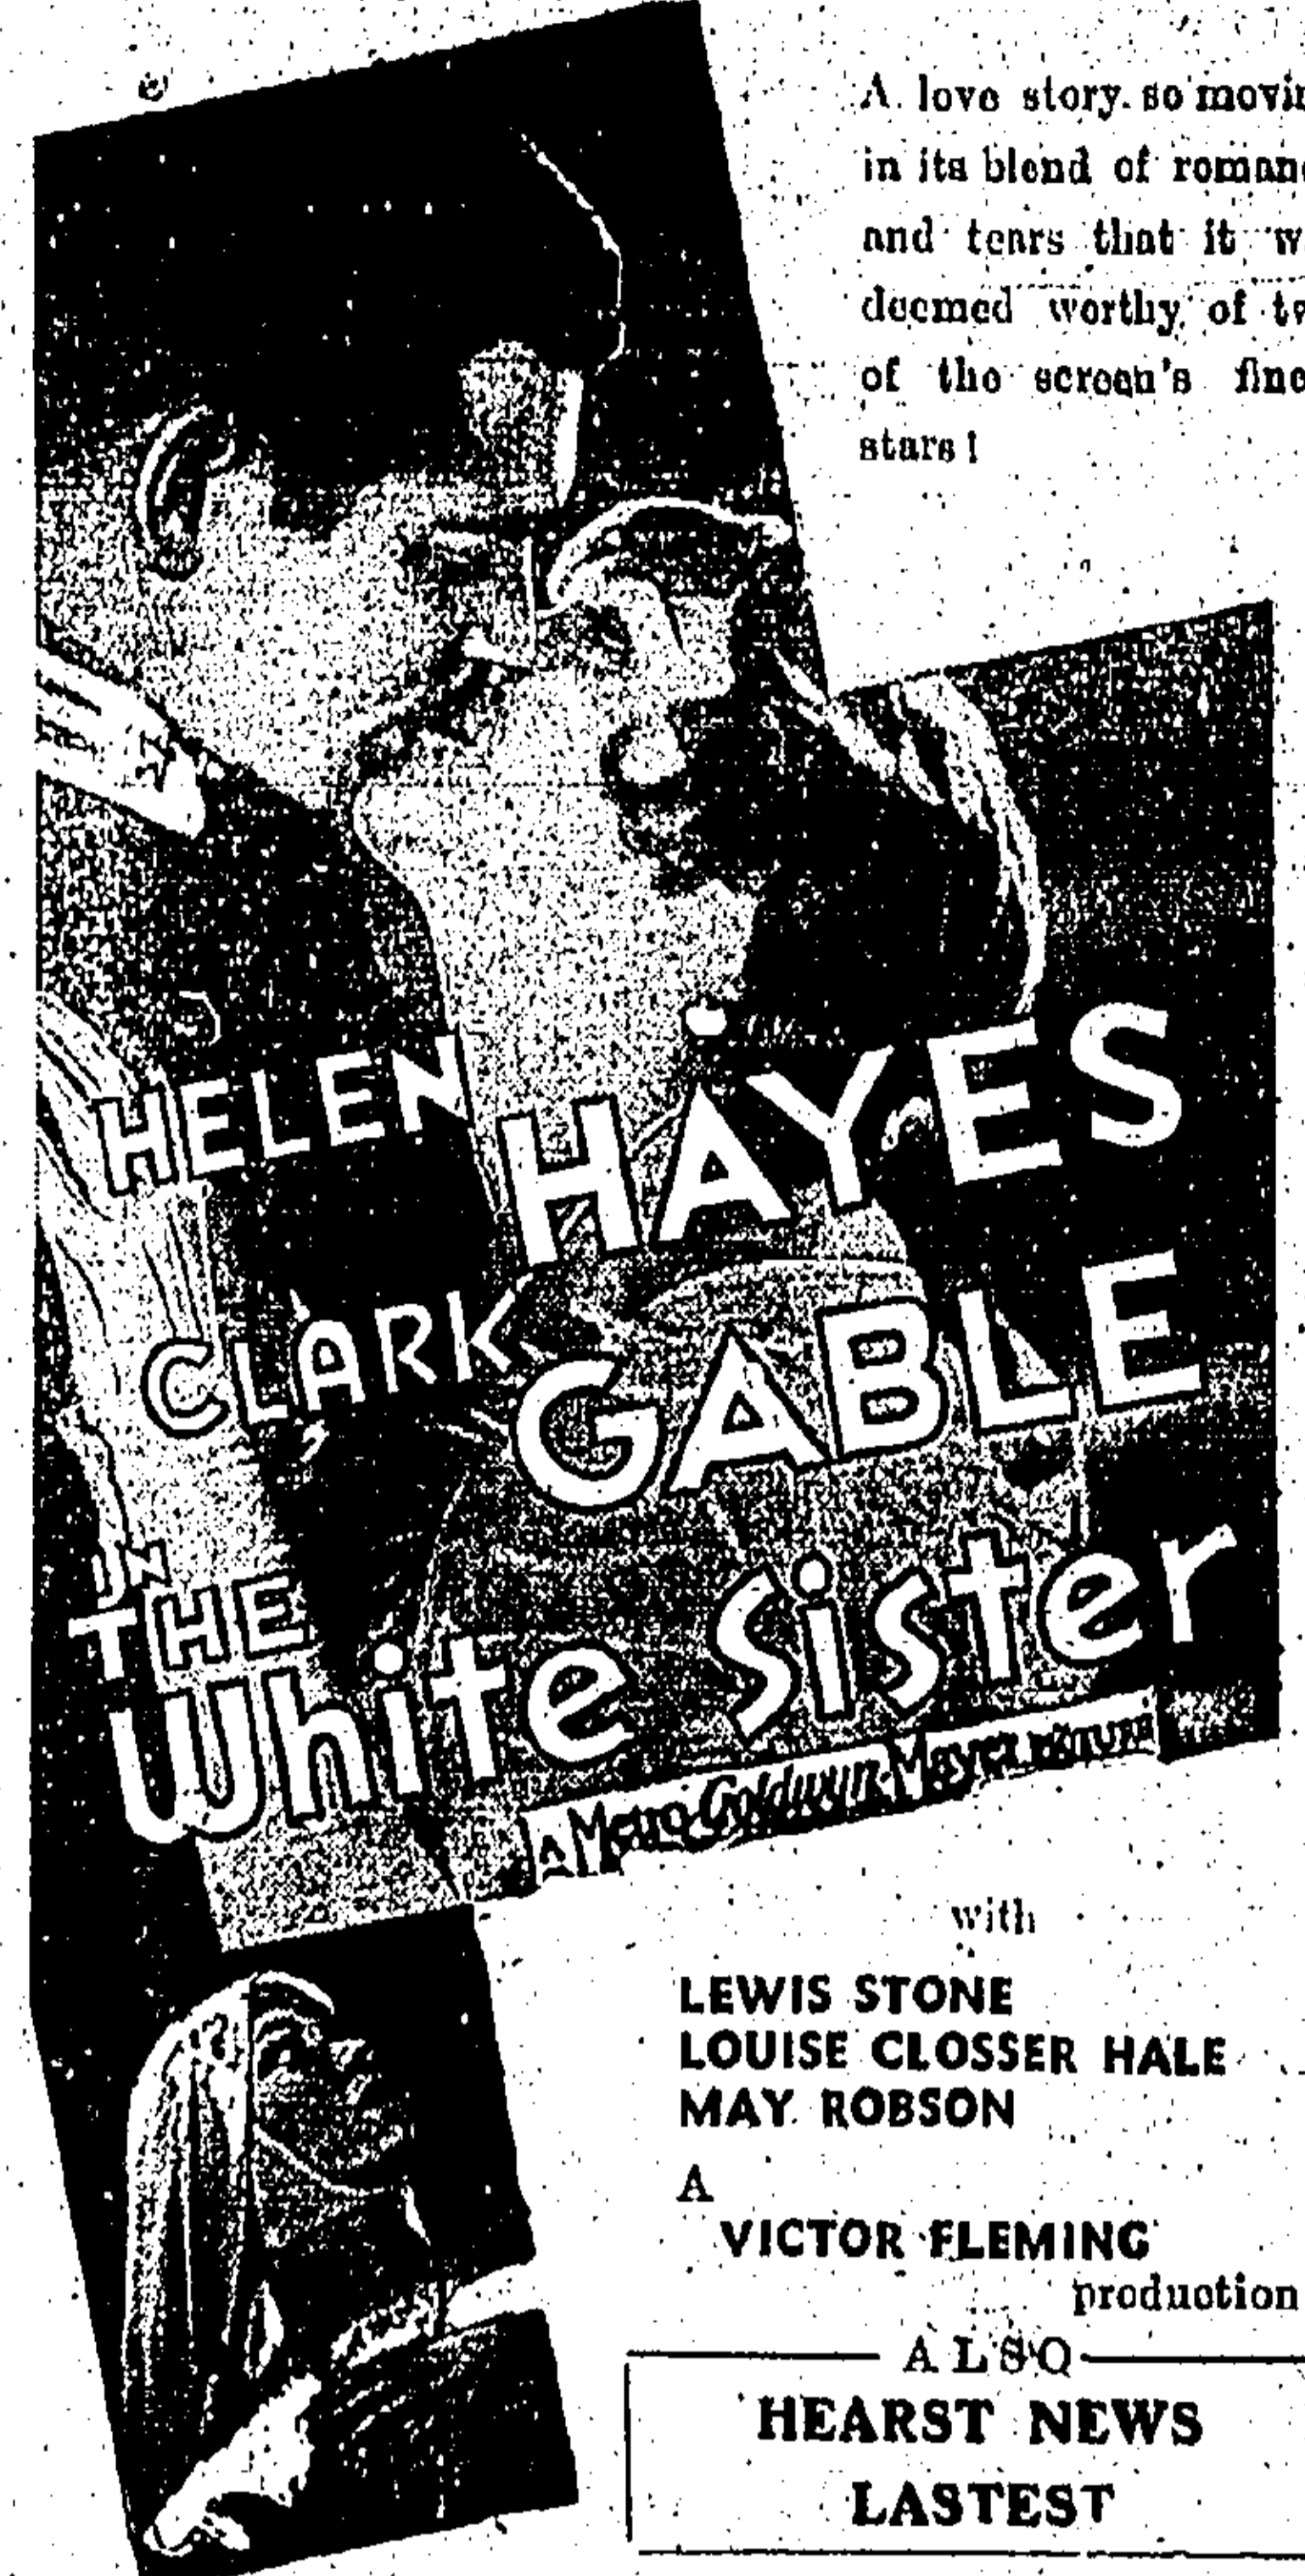

Money and miscellaneous articles were missing from the dead man but police believe revenge to be the motive for the outrage.

Six clansmen are suspected and a close search for them is now being made by the New Territories police.

FIRE THREAT TO 2,000 PATIENTS

OUTBREAK IN MENTAL HOSPITAL

A fire which broke out recently in the top story of a new wing at Cork Mental Hospital, where more than two thousand mental cases are under treatment, caused some alarm to the staff. The Cork fire brigade turned out to assist the asylum attendants in fighting the flames, however, and the outbreak was quickly checked.

Thousands of holidaymakers helped to beat out a fierce fire on Corton Cliffs, near Lowestoft. The fire started in a stubble field, and, fanned by a strong wind, the flames rapidly spread across the Lowestoft road, where traffic was blocked, to Corton golf course, and almost reached the sea before they were checked.

Fire broke out in a spinney near the Winkfield road, between Windsor and Ascot, and spread at an alarming rate, at one time threatening several houses. Flames shot up to a great height, but firemen succeeded in preventing them from reaching the houses, although a number of valuable trees were destroyed.

A four-storey mill belonging to Messrs. John Harwood and Co., cotton spinners, Rishon-lane, Bolton, was seriously damaged by fire; it is possible that two hundred employees will be affected.

MISS ENGLAND III CATCHES FIRE AT POOLE

PRESIDENT SHY OF INFLATION

CONFERENCE AT WHITE HOUSE LAST NIGHT

"UNFREEZING" OF DEPOSITS

Washington, Sept. 25.

The monetary, fiscal and credit conference opened at the White House at nine o'clock last night.

The President's secretary afterwards stated that the purpose of the gathering of officials and experts was to undertake a review of the financial situation, particularly with a view to ensuring that credit will be available to agriculture and industry.

It was emphasised in the official statement that no new move on inflation is contemplated immediately.

NO DIRECT INFLATION.

It is generally accepted that the statement eliminates the probability of any direct inflation at the present time, despite the strong pressure from Congress leaders. It also indicates that the Government plans to do its utmost to put into circulation the huge "frozen" deposits in closed and restricted banks.

According to well-informed circles, the Conference centred round the problem of ways and means of releasing those deposits.

A WALLACE WARNING.

Mr. Wallace, the Secretary of Agriculture, in a speech, declared that unless Americans adopt a world trading policy benefiting their creditors, they must take out of production the forty million surplus acres planted during the war.

He emphasised that control of production is essential to the success of the recovery programme.

MAIN OBSTACLE.

Mr. Woodin, Secretary of the Treasury Department, Mr. Eugene Black, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and other experts were present at the Conference.

One of the difficulties still to be overcome no matter what solutions are offered is that of inducing the banks to pass on to industry the liquid resources they obtain as a result of Government measures. They plead the absence of "sound" borrowers.—Reuter.

LOCAL POLICE OFFICER PASSES AWAY

Young Man Victim of Typhoid

The death occurred at the Government Civil Hospital at 8.05 this morning of Police Lance-Sergeant Allen Henry Cleathero, at the age of 24, it is understood, from typhoid.

A native of Lowestoft, Suffolk, the late Sergeant Cleathero arrived in Hongkong on October 22, 1930. He passed examinations in Cantonese, and latterly was posted to No. 2 (Wanchai) Station. Well-liked by those who knew him, there will be general regret over an untimely demise which has cut short a promising career. The funeral, of an official nature, takes place this afternoon, the cortege arriving at the Monument at 5 p.m.

Wong Hing, unemployed, a returned banished labourer, was sentenced to one year's hard labour by Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning. Defendant was banished for a period of ten years in April this year. He said he had returned intending to enter a hospital for treatment.

FANG CHEN-WU REVOLT

Peking, Sept. 25.

Fang Chen-wu's objective appears to be the capture of Peking. Troops are reported to be moving towards Peking from three points.

It is reported that 1,000 men, the vanguard, entered Liunanshan yesterday.

The Japanese are reported to be moving troops towards Miyun.—Special.

THREAT TO PEKING

TANG YU-LIN WITH INVADERS

ARMISTICE LINE DIFFICULTY

Peking, Sept. 25.

The situation created by the invasion of Fang Chen-wu appears to be growing more serious daily.

It is now stated that Peking itself stands in danger of attack from the ex-Kuomintang troops under his command.

The local authorities are helpless to meet such an attack until the advancing forces cross the Tangku Armistice line which is only a few miles from the city.

Requests to the Japanese authorities at Changchun for permission for Chinese troops to enter the demilitarised zone in order to clean up Fang Chen-wu and his allies have been refused.

According to some well-informed Chinese sources, General Tang Yu-lin, the ex-Governor of Jehol, is leading one branch of the invading force, and it is a move by Fang Chen-wu, Tang Yu-lin and their allies to oust the present Peking regime.—Reuter.

THE BLUE DRAGON SOCIETY.

Tientsin, Sept. 25.

A new bandit group, styling themselves the "Blue Dragon Society" are appearing in the Luanung district.

They are over one thousand strong and are believed to have smuggled inside the Great Wall from Manchurian territory.

Two bandit groups under the respective command of Lo Hui-tee and Ko Ya-chow have amalgamated into one strong force with Shih-Mun as their base of activity.

Puning has been besieged by bandits for several days last week and though the siege has been lifted with the help of Government reinforcements, severe fighting is still in progress at a point to the north of the city.

The situation is worsened by a report that a Manchukuo detachment suddenly made their appearance at Malanyu, inside the Great Wall, last week-end with the alleged object of protecting the Manchu Imperial Mausoleums.

The Chinese authorities have lodged a strong protest, demanding their withdrawal.—Central News Agency.

SUBMARINES BOUND FOR HONGKONG

H.M.S. Folkestone, is due to arrive in Hongkong to-morrow afternoon from her summer cruise. The British submarines, H.M.S. Rainbow and Orpheus, left Weihaiwei on Saturday for Hongkong and will arrive on September 28, while H.M.S. Keppel, H.M.S. Whithead, H.M.S. Veteran and H.M.S. Wren, which have been on a Japanese cruise, are expected to return on October 2.

THE FLYING GIPSIES

VICOMTE DE SIBOUR OFF AGAIN

HONGKONG-BOUND

EXPECTED HERE WITH WIFE NEXT MONTH

Cannes, Sept. 24.

Vicomte de Sibour, the well-known French aviator, took off from Cannes to-day on a flight to China by easy stages.

He is accompanied by his wife, his son and a friend.

The fliers expect to reach Hongkong in about three weeks.

Vicomte de Sibour was a pioneer in the use of the light aeroplane for long distance touring. In the world-war he served with distinction as a pilot in the French Air Force, winning the Croix de Guerre and the Croix-Militaire.

When released from the army, he entered the service of a company which was starting passenger airways, chiefly between Paris and Le Touquet and other coast resorts.

DAUGHTER OF MR. SELFIDGE.

On some of his flights he occasionally had as passenger a daughter of Mr. Gordon Selfridge, the American who set up a great department store in London.

She was already known as an intrepid motorist and at the time they met was becoming interested in flying. Under his tuition her knowledge of aviation advanced rapidly together with an interest in one another which resulted in marriage.

Resigning his position, Sibour conceived the idea of touring in an aeroplane of his own. He bought a Gipsy Moth machine in which he and his wife set out in September, 1928 on the first flight ever made round the world as a pleasure trip.

FLYING GIPSIES.

By easy stages they crossed Europe, Arabia, Persia and India to Indo-China where they spent a month or two in hunting elephants and tigers. Then, flying on through China and Japan, they crossed to the U.S. by steamer.

A flight to New York and the crossing of the Atlantic by liner completed in July, 1929, a tour in which they had flown 17,000 miles. They restricted themselves to 14 lbs. of personal luggage.

It included only one brush and comb between them, but also the other badges of civilisation, a black frock and a dress shirt. The Vicomtesse published an account of the journey under the title "Flying Gypsies."

AMONG CANNIBALS.

Early in 1930 they set out on an air tour of Africa. When flying over a wild part of Erythraea they were forced down by storms and landed among a horde of reputed cannibals. Fortunately the blacks were so terrified that they fled. In Abyssinia the Emperor took such a fancy to their machine that under diplomatic pressure they let him have it. They then covered long distances by motor lorry, visiting Kenya, Uganda and the Belgian Congo. Returning home by way of the Cameroons, they immediately bought another aeroplane.—Reuter.

EUROPEAN ATHLETIC CHAMPIONSHIPS

SPEED RUN MISHAP

BACKFIRE IGNITES PETROL

RECORD BROKEN

London, Sept. 24.

Mr. Scott-Paine's crack motor-boat, Miss England III, caught fire and was seriously damaged when travelling at high speed in Poole Harbour to-day.

All members of the crew escaped unhurt.

Mr. Scott-Paine was himself a member of the crew and before the boat caught fire, he had beaten the sea mile record, attaining a mean speed of 95.08 miles an hour on two runs, each of a mile.

The accident was apparently due to a backfire which ignited petrol which had leaked into the bottom of Miss England III.

GREAT MISFORTUNE.

It is a great misfortune as the craft is looked upon as one of the most remarkable products of marine engineering of recent times. She is the nearest approach to a pure hydroplane ever entered in motor-boat racing. She was designed by Mr. Scott-Paine and has achieved over 100 miles an hour in an unofficial speed trial with a 900-h.p. engine on Southampton Water.

BETTER REPORT

The vessel is not so badly damaged as was first feared, says Mr. Scott-Paine after an examination of Miss England III.—Reuter.

COURT MARTIAL AT SHAMSHUPO

PRIVATE WHO LOST HIS TEMPER

Private James Johnson, of the Lincolnshire Regiment, appeared before a district court martial this morning at Shamshupo Camp to answer charges of failing to attend a defaulters' parade on September 11 when ordered to do so by C.S.M. J.W. Booth, and of using insubordinate language to a superior officer concerning his attendance at the defaulters' roll call.

The court comprised Major T. G. Lewis (Jat Regiment), Capt. Watson (R.A.), and Lieut. S. P. B. Bransbury (Lincoln), Lieut. F. W. Young (Lincoln) was the prosecuting officer.

Prisoner pleaded guilty to both charges and said: "I admit the offences. I lost my temper over some other trouble. I am sorry and wish to express my regret."

No evidence was called and the decision of the Court was reserved for confirmation by H. E. the G.O.C.

CHAOS EXTENDS IN CUBA

U.S. INTERVENTION NOW SEEMS INEVITABLE

AUTHORITY TO NAVAL COMMANDERS

WASHINGTON, SEPT. 24.

ARMED INTERVENTION BY THE UNITED STATES IN CUBA CAME APPRECIABLY CLOSER TO-DAY, OWING TO THE INCREASING GRAVITY OF THE SITUATION.

The commanders of American warships in Cuban waters have now been authorised to land forces on their own initiative if they consider it necessary.

Washington has, however, made it clear that a landing must not be made if it can possibly be avoided, although it is admitted in official circles that there is cause for serious concern in the increasing lawlessness, and it is feared that the landing of marines and blue-jackets cannot be avoided unless a change for the better takes place.

FOREIGNERS IN GRAVE DANGER

A member of the United States Government to-day asserted that Communists trained in Moscow have established the framework of a Communist organisation throughout Cuba and that armed forces, operating under their direction, are reported to be commandeering food and lodging without payment.

Warship commanders have now been vested with the responsibility of landing—if the situation requires it.

DIPLOMATIC VIEWS.

Diplomatic quarters in Washington, however, consider that the United States will wait until the last possible moment before intervening as the landing of armed forces in Cuba would undoubtedly prejudice the chances of the success of the Pan-American Conference to be held in Montevideo in December, where, it is understood, President Roosevelt hopes to lay the foundation for closer diplomatic and commercial relations with Latin America to compensate for the shrinkage of American trade with Europe.

The same circles express the view that Tokyo would compare American intervention in Cuba with the Japanese invasion of Manchuria.

CUBAN EFFORTS.

Messages from Havana indicate that President Grau San Martin is striving his utmost to prevent the United States from having any excuse for intervention and is in negotiation with the opposition with a view to an agreement to bring an end to the present reign of chaos.

Labour troubles in the interior of Cuba are of a nature bordering upon open rebellion.

FOREIGNERS' PERIL.

The fate of twelve British and American residents at Panama is unknown.

Four Americans and ten other foreigners are isolated at Medalluna sugar-mills.

It is reported further that unknown persons sent a bomb through the post to Colonel (ex-Sergeant) Batista, the commander-in-chief of the Cuban Army, whose daughter has been threatened with kidnapping.—Reuter.

NEWSPAPER STRIKE ENDS.

The newspaper strike in Havana has ended. Employers have settled their differences with reporters and printers, who claimed their promises of higher wages and salaries were not being fulfilled, and the papers resumed publication.

When the papers issued again with accounts of what was trans-spring the public felt increased reassurance.

Troops sent to an American owned sugar plant in Camaguey ejected rioters there.

Several communist leaders have been arrested in the eastern provinces.

Despite assurances by the government that everything is well, cavalry and machine gun troops continue patrolling the presidential palace to prevent any sudden coups.

MINES SHUT DOWN.

Twelve Americans who have been virtual prisoners of striking workers at manganese mines at Cristo have been removed to safety but the mines have been shut down indefinitely.

A serious food shortage was reported at Puerto Padre, on the north coast of Oriente province, and a similar situation threatened the towns of the southern coast of the province. Unless the strike (Continued on Page 7.)

DUBLIN INCIDENT

SHOCK FOR RADIO ANNOUNCER

Dublin, Sept. 24.

A remarkable incident occurred in Dublin to-day during the All-Ireland Gaelic Football Final, which was played at Croke Park.

A number of men, evidently opponents of the de Valera regime, entered the wireless announcer's box and seized the announcer about to describe the progress of the match.

Listeners in Ireland and in many other parts of the world within reception distance must have been astonished to hear sounds of scuffling and then a clear voice "drawing attention to the ill-treatment of political prisoners in Free State gaols by an alleged Republican Government."

The broadcasting authorities at headquarters then smelt a rat and cut off the broadcast from Croke Park and nothing more was heard. The men disappeared in the crowd watching the match. Mr. de Valera was among the forty thousand spectators.—Reuter.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

YOUR CHILDREN

Showing Children Too Much
Solicitude Encourages
Wrong Mental Attitude

By Olive Roberts Barton.

"Dick, do eat your lunch."
"I'm not hungry."

"When your mother comes home she will find you all skin and bones, then she will think I've starved you."

Dick regarded his want for an instant. She did not know it but instantly his young head had done some quick calculating. Something like this: "It would be very interesting if mother came home and found me pale and thin and sick looking. What a lot of attention and fussing I'd get then."

Power of Suggestion

He folded his napkin and left the table without changing expression as children do—Sphinx faces they are—and his poor aunt never guessed that she had definitely started something that was to last through her stay.

Even Dick didn't know in so many words himself what he had decided to do, the power of suggestion works in riddles. But his mind had a plan drawn that would keep him occupied day and night from now on.

"Dick! Dick! Where are you? Get Harold and do an errand for me, will you? Oh, there you are. It's only down to the store. What's the matter? Swing sick?"

"I guess not. I'll go. I just don't feel very good, that's all." Dick got up off the swing like an old, old man and reached listlessly for the money.

"Heavens, Dick Morton, if you dare to take sick now your mother will never forgive me. She'll never let me in the house again."

A Child's Mind at Work

Dick like his Aunt Frances well enough but he wasn't crazy about this idea of his mother and father going off on a holiday and leaving him at home with her.

"Aunt Fran, maybe a little ice-cream would cool me off and make me feel better."

"Yes, do get some. Here's some more money. You didn't eat your lunch and I can't have you starving."

Dick walked slowly over toward Harold's, but when he got out of sight he ran.

Now what followed may seem to be far beyond the ken of a child of nine, but that is just because we don't guess how children's minds often work.

Moreover, please remember that Dick did not deliberately do this—but his mind was determinedly seeking the means to an end. It had the impetus of suggestion from Aunt Fran and it was carrying on as hard as it could go.

Dick knew that sarsaparilla, pop, a six-inch pickle, and chocolate icecream had once made him sick. And now he got all three and ate them.

Parental Affection

He was sick. The doctor was called. Mother got a letter that Dick "hadn't been well" but was all right now.

She shortened her visit by three days and came home. Dick was perfectly all right but he didn't smile when she came in. He adopted the role of dying cat-fish

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Five Preparations Every Woman Needs
For Her Dressing Table

By Alicia Hart

Every woman needs five preparations on her dressing table. These, of course, are in addition to powder, rouge and other make-up. A good cleansing cream is all important. Select one that has a thin texture. It should liquify the minute it touches your skin. Use it at night to remove the grime and dust of the day and again in the morning before you apply makeup. You can use cleansing cream and then rinse your face several times with warm water. If you simply can't get along with-

and lay all over the place. "My darling!" His mother held his head to her breast. "I'll never, never go away again. Fran, what did you do?"

Poor Fran had done nothing but suggest an interesting experiment by six simple words.

There is a sermon in this story. The power of mental suggestion is terrific. It never does to dramatize a child's condition or state of mind to him. It leads to things.

out soap and water, use it first and then the cleansing cream.

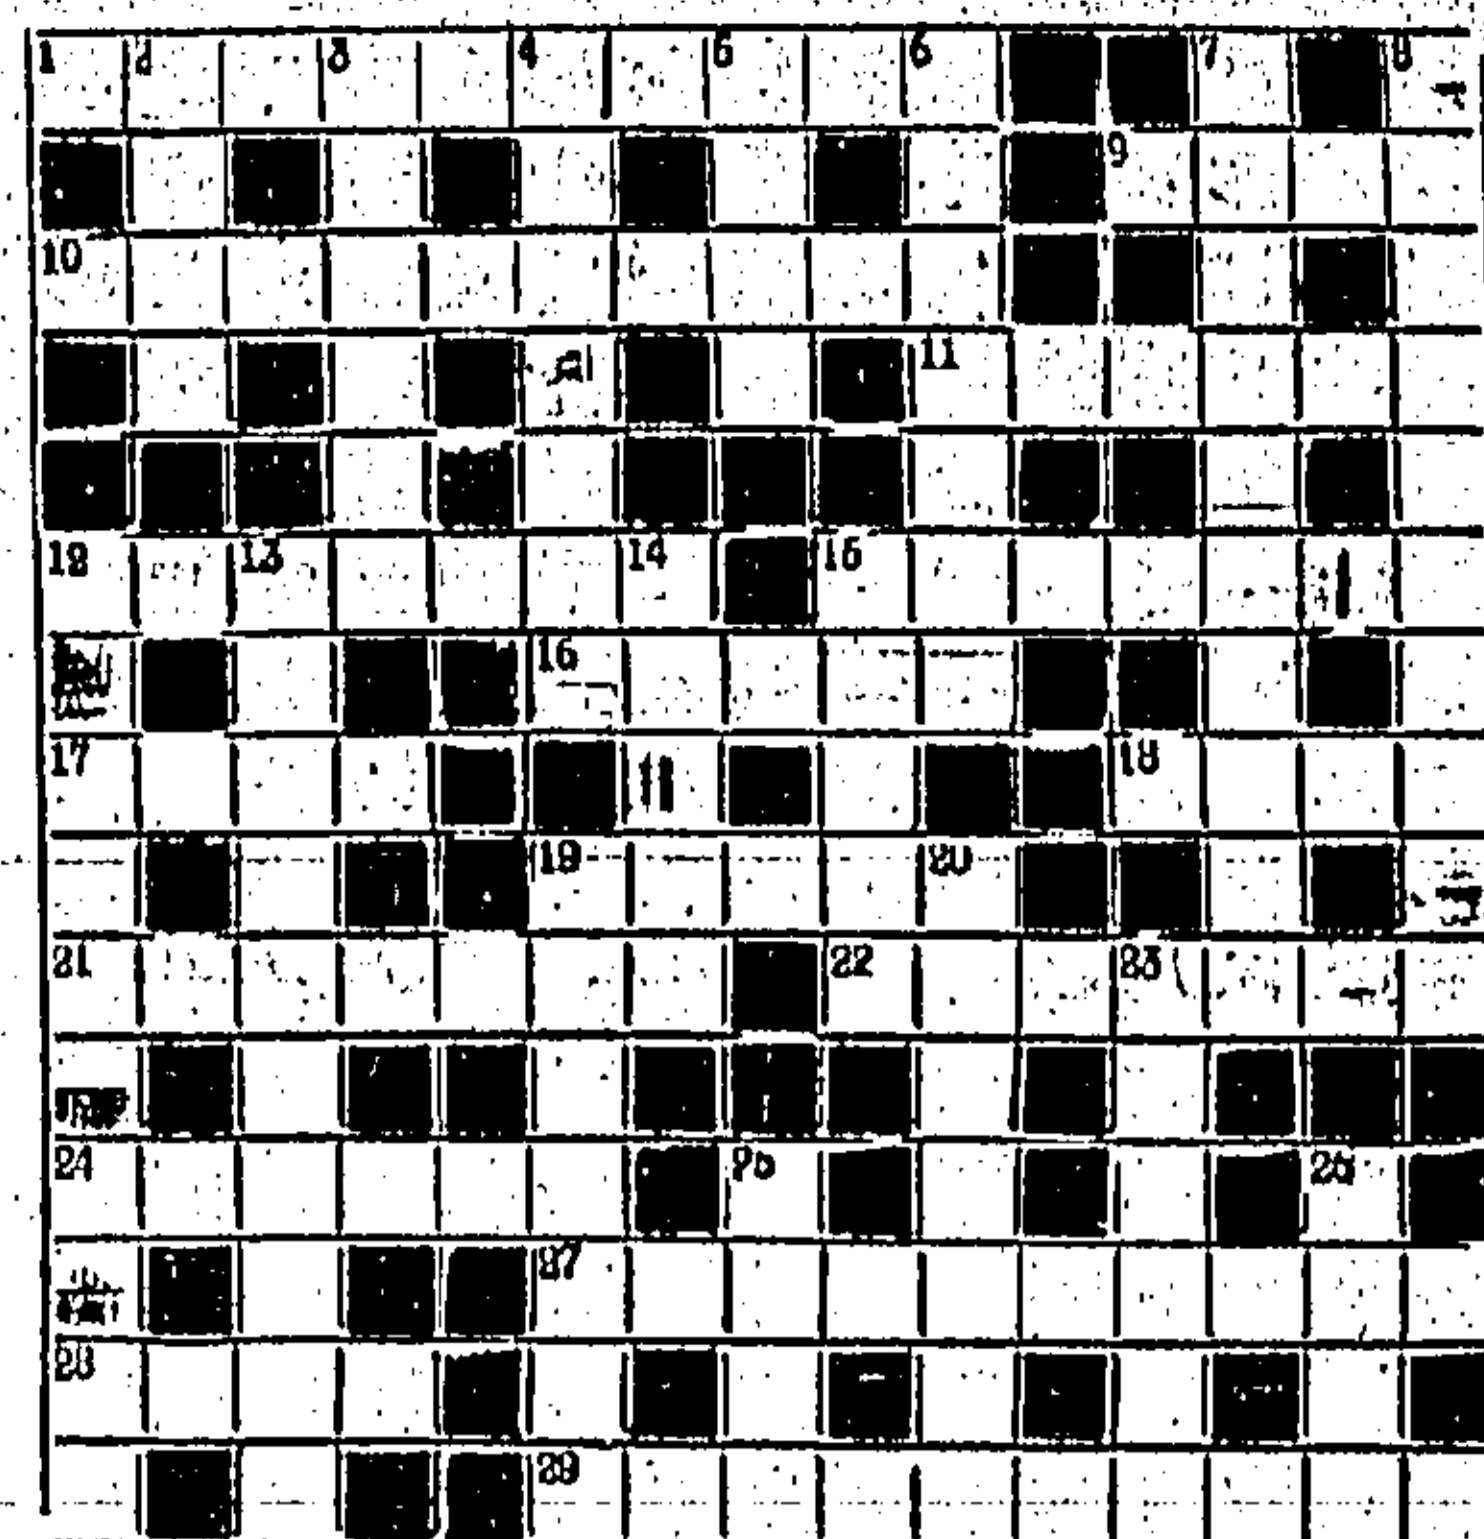

Tissue cream is an asset to any complexion. It should be composed of oils—not animal fat—and is to be used at night after your face is clean. Every woman over thirty needs to use a tissue cream at least four nights a week. It puts natural oil back into your skin and keeps your complexion soft and unlined.

A skin toning lotion takes a seat of importance along with your other creams and lotions. It tones the skin and prepares it for makeup. Always apply it with clean cotton pads after you have cleaned your face. It removes excess cleansing cream and is a mild stimulant.

Have an astringent for your chin and neck. Apply it to your chin by means of a patten and to your neck with a cotton pad. It keeps necks from becoming flabby and chins from developing into sets of two and three.

A powder base is essential, too. There are various kinds, ranging from the ubiquitous vanishing creams to liquids. A liquid powder base is more in favour than a cream. Use it on your nose, forehead and chin before you powder.

APPEAL FOR SUPPORT.

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD AT KILMARNOCK

London, Sept. 23.

The Prime Minister, (Mr. Ramsay MacDonald), appealed for continual unity in support of the National Government at a public meeting in Kilmarnock last night. He claimed that the strong position of Great Britain, both financially and industrially, was the result of the Government's work during a period of extreme difficulty. He pointed to the rise which was taking place in wholesale prices, describing this as one of the most scientific ways of increasing both the demand for labour, and wages given to labour, and pointed out that meanwhile, purchasing power had also been maintained.

Trade was showing many hopeful signs and British currency had earned the confidence and respect of the world. There had also been a fall in unemployment of nearly 600,000 since the beginning of this year.

Mr. MacDonald said the Government was working "to increase world consumption and to secure by various means a proper share for Britain of that increase.—British Wireless.

CHAPTER XXX

Eve tried to conceal her dismay. "Dick," she said nervously, "I need $200 and I must have it to-day. This noon if possible!"

"I'm sorry," he told her, "but I haven't that much in the bank. But I must have it!" she insisted.

Dick did not embarrass her by asking questions. "I've just paid an insurance premium," he explained. "I could take up my policy but that is made out for your future protection."

"I'd be afraid to have you do that!"

"Well," he went on, "I might borrow on it—"

"Oh, Dick, please do!"

"It will take about 10 days to complete the loan," he explained.

That made the plan useless. Eve had to have the money immediately. She was sorry that she had said anything to Dick about it. Her only remaining recourse seemed an appeal to her mother.

Eve put through a long distance call to her home. It was Esther who answered and told her that their mother had fallen from a step ladder that morning and wrenched her back, hence she could not come to the telephone. And it was Esther who offered to lend Eve the $200 she needed without telling their parents. Esther would go to the bank in the morning and send the money by telegraph. Eve resolved to do something handsome for her sister as soon as she was able in order to show her gratitude.

She found Arlene looking extremely unhappy when she returned to the office. "What'll I do?" Arlene implored with a wan smile. "I should raise $60 on 24 hours' notice when I couldn't raise it in 24 days!"

"Can't you borrow at home?" Eve suggested.

"Not at my home!" Arlene assured her airily. "I'm lucky to be on the board basis there. I used to hand over my entire salary cheque to Mother each week and she paid my expenses. But I put up such a good sales talk for handling my own money a year ago that I finally won out. Since then I've paid board at home and occasionally make wild prophecies about my bright financial future. No, I couldn't borrow without telling my parents why and if I did that I'd never get the money!"

"I truly believe Atlas Coupler will recover and we will be glad that we hung on, Arlene. Why don't you tell your father about it? I think he'd see you through."

"My father! Oh, that's precious. My father only believes what he sees. So he goes in for houses and jots—one at a time. Rent, estate is the thing, he says. It's real to him because he can lay his hands on it. He thinks the little investor has no chance at anything else and he'd think it was a good lesson for me to lose what I've put in stocks so far," answered Arlene.

She took her loss like a good sport, Eve conceded but she could not shake off the feeling of guilt because it was she who had introduced Arlene to marketing on the stock market.

It was a great relief to Eve when Esther's money came. She took the $200 to the brokerage office and protected her stock for the time. Eve tried to save all she could in order to pay Esther in a lump sum. She recalled the contempt Dick had expressed for people who borrow a sum and pay it back in dribbling amounts. "The person who made the loan has difficulty getting the original amount together again and it is just about a total loss to the lender who saved it in the first place," he had said.

Esther's husband would feel the same and Eve was quite sure Esther had told him of her appeal. Eve had much faith in her investment and looked for it to lift her from petty financial annoyance and constant struggle to heights of prosperity.

Soon Atlas Coupler recovered and gradually went on to a new high for the year.

Eve was worried about her mother's health. She was anxious for her vacation to arrive so she might be with her. Esther was at home and reported favourable progress, although their mother suffered. Both Kate and Hank Bayless found their household brightened by the presence of Esther's baby who was toddling about the house and beginning to talk.

And Eve was concerned about Dick, too. The building which housed the theatre was completed and Dick left for Chicago to clear up some loose ends of business in connection with the building. He was in conference at the company headquarters for several days and the time until his return seemed to Eve interminable.

Much would depend upon his next job, Dick had made clear to her before he left. It was scarcely likely that the Chicago firm would have another long contract in Lake City immediately. Dick's next job might be in another city or even another state. Eve again refused to consider this possibility until she faced the actual facts.

She met Dick at the station the June morning he returned from Chicago. How handsome he looked as he swung down the steps carrying his Gladstone!

"Hello, sweetheart!" he greeted her.

"Darling," she murmured, kissing him regardless of bystanders. And in the taxi riding home she asked many questions except the one uppermost in her thoughts—where he was to work next?

Dick had brought her an ivory cloisonne compact and she was delighted with it. Always, she told him, she had wanted a really beautiful compact and this was doubly precious because he had chosen it for her.

Dick unpacked his bag and Eve poured a cup of coffee for him. Then it was time for her to go to the office. He drove her down in the roadster.

"Guess I can chauffeur for you for some time to come," he remarked. "That is, if you still insist on going to work."

"What do you mean?" asked Eve, her heart pounding with suspense. "I'm not going to have anything to do for a couple of months," he answered.

Marya and Ray had returned from their honeymoon and twice Marya had lunched with Eve and Arlene when she was down town on shopping trips.

That morning she telephoned to Eve at the office. "Now that we are settled," Marya said, "we want you and Dick to come out and have dinner with us. We're inviting Arlene and Sam Holeridge, too. Ray and I both like Sam."

When Eve repeated this invitation Arlene protested. "But Sam is likely to be three sheets to the wind! I wish Marya would ask George Bliss instead. I can't think of a greater inducement to matrimony than submitting a man to the influence of Marya's romantic bungalow. And I'm going to wear my rose chiffon too."

Arlene wore it, entrancing Sam who called for her in a long, powerful roadster.

"Want the top down?" he asked. Arlene agreed enthusiastically and they sped along Lake road, hatless and windblown, with laughter on their lips.

Marya, in bouffant pink batiste, was a delightful hostess. The dinner table was laid with light green damask, ivory dishes, amethyst glassware and Marya wedding silver. The food was delicious.

Sam praised Marya's skill as an artist and then offered to arrange for the sale of her batik work at the store where he was employed. "I hadn't planned to do much of that sort of thing," Marya said, "but it would give me the opportunity to earn some money for art lessons. My ambition is to specialize in child portraiture. Oh, I know I'll have to study years and years and work very hard—but I don't mind that!"

Later when the three girls were together Eve said, "Marya, this is a story-book house! I expect to wake on any moment and find out that I've been dreaming. Surely you have nothing to wish for!"

Marya, smiling serenely, answered, "Nothing but a cradle with a cherub in it!"

Eve was always to remember that. On the way home she said to Dick in a wistful voice, "Dick, do you think we will ever have a lovely home like that?"

"That depends!" he answered. But he did not say on what it depended.

AGASSIZCOURT TRIBUTES THIS MORNING

The Full Court, represented by the Puisne Judge, Mr. R. E. Lindsell, in the absence from the Colony of the Chief Justice, sat to-day in memory of Mr. E. L. Agassiz, Official Receiver and Registrar of Trade Marks and Letters Patent, who died on Saturday.

Mr. Justice Lindsell said: "It is a sad matter that this is the second occasion within three days on which the Court has sat to take notice of the death of a member of the legal profession of Hongkong. To-day we deplore the death of one who was not only an amiable lawyer but also an officer of the Court."

"Edward Lewis Agassiz was born in June, 1879 and enrolled as a solicitor of the Supreme Court of Judicature in January, 1903. In February, 1914, he was admitted and enrolled as a solicitor of this court and remained in private practice here until 1920, when he joined the Government service. In December 1925, after acting in that capacity for over a year, he was appointed Official Receiver in Bankruptcy, and in December, 1927, appointed in addition to be Registrar of Trade Marks and Letters Patent.

"I think that members of the legal profession whose duties brought them into touch with him, must have been impressed by his single-minded integrity and honesty of purpose and also by his gallant fight against the handicap of failing sight."

"On behalf of the Bench, I desire to express here a sense of the loss the Court has sustained by his death and our deep sympathy with his relatives, in particular with the widow."

The Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster said: "I should like to associate myself and members of the Bar and legal members of the Government service with Your Lordship's tribute to Edward Lewis Agassiz."

A DEAR FRIEND.

"In him we have lost an able and conscientious lawyer, a valued colleague and a dear friend whose memory we shall treasure. The Bankruptcy Ordinance and Rules will remain on the Colonial Statute Book as a monument to his accuracy, industry and zeal. We wish to associate ourselves with the Court's expression of sympathy with Mrs. Agassiz."

"Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton President of the Incorporated Law Society of Hongkong, said: 'It is since the year 1927 that the members of the legal profession became better known to Mr. Agassiz and he became better known to them, by reason of his appointment as Official Receiver. His work brought him into close and constant contact with our profession and I am expressing their opinion when I say that by his unfailing courtesy and tact, and his sympathetic understanding of the difficulties with which solicitors have to contend, he won our esteem and affection.'

"On behalf of the Law Society I desire to express to Mrs. Agassiz, their deepest sympathy with her in her great loss and we would like to associate ourselves with the remarks of His Lordship and the Attorney General."

Among those present were: Messrs. J. A. Fraser, Assistant Attorney General, D. McNeill, Hing-shing Lo, Leo D'Almada, Jr., H. C. Macnamara, M. H. Turner, R. C. H. Lim, H. G. Lee, barristers-at-law; F. H. Loseby, F. X. D'Almada snr., and Mr. A. el Arculli, C. Y. Kwan, D. L. Strellett, F. Hodgson, M. W. Lo, H. Lo, P. Sin, H. A. da Barros Botelho, J. M. D'Almada Remedios, M. A. da Silva, G. Wadson, and Brown.

"RATHER LIGHT"

REVENUE OFFICER AND A PENALTY

A young Chinese woman with a five-months-old baby strapped to her back, was fined $50 or six weeks' imprisonment by Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning on a charge of the possession of 16 taels of illicit opium. Revenue Officer Grimmit, who prosecuted, remarked the penalty was "rather light. They had rather a lot of trouble with women carriers and they would have a lot more if the women got away with that."

MR. CUNLIFFE-LISTER'S HINT TO BAHAMAS

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 23. Replying to a request of the Bahamas Legislature for permission to raise tariffs against Japanese textiles, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Secretary of State for the Colonies, stated that the Anglo-Japanese treaty precluded discriminatory tariffs against Japan.

He urged the Legislature to undertake no measures pending the outcome of the Anglo-Japanese negotiations.—Reuter.

WHEN IS A MAN DRUNK?THE DOCTOR'S DILEMMATESTS THAT MAY MISLEAD

The difficult question of what is a reliable test of drunkenness is again raised by the statement of a doctor at Croydon that he took it as a sign of a motorist being under the influence of drink, that he could not touch his own nose when his eyes were shut.

As things stand at present no satisfactory scientific test of drunkenness exists.

Tests at present used may be divided into two groups: Various things which the accused is called upon to do, and various examinations made by the doctor.

In the former group may be included such things as Walking along a straight line, Touching the nose with a finger with the eyes shut.

Standing on one leg with the eyes shut and the hands held above the head.

Writing down a sentence, and Pronouncing certain test sentences supposed to present certain difficulties for the tongue.

It may be said at once that many normal persons, attempting these tests in the quietude of their homes, would fail to gain anything like a 100 per cent. success.

When the accused is called upon to carry out such tests in a police station, after a road accident or after the distasteful publicity attendant upon arrest, it is scarcely surprising that failure is not uncommon even if the soberness of the examinee is beyond question.

The second group of tests presents much the same difficulties. The doctor may examine the pupils of the eyes, count the pulse, test the nerve reflexes, and ask certain questions to test the memory of the accused, and at the end of it all be left wondering how much importance to attach to positive results.

A BLOOD TEST.

The smell of alcohol in the breath is notoriously unreliable, but great hope has been expressed in recent years that some method of estimating the amount of alcohol in the blood would provide concrete evidence of drunkenness. So far the London. "Brains are really a most over-estimated commodity. We don't want human beings capable of mental gymnastics, we want human beings who can live."

This is the opinion of Mr. G. V. Keeling, the 32-year-old miner, who has just taken an honour degree in economics at London University. Mr. Keeling gained a wonderful series of scholarships to enable him to take his degree and he told Reuter that this first change came from winning the miners' national scholarship valued at £1,000 when he was unemployed.

"Down there in the mine," he said, "the scale of values is different from that of the world above. It is on a purely physical plane. I was in that mine drawing 16s. 6d. a day stripped to the waist, streaming with sweat, risking injury and knowing that at any moment death may come. Yet as miners work they sing—it is rather absurd when they have so little to sing about, but they do."

test proposed has not been adopted, and, in any case, there would be the great difficulty of determining the personal idiosyncrasies to alcohol.

Finally, there arises the problem that other conditions may closely stimulate drunkenness. Other drugs may sometimes produce similar effects, while there was not long ago a tragic case of a doctor found guilty of being drunk who was actually a diabetic subject who had had an overdose of insulin a short time previously.

Lack of control or "inco-ordination" is common to many conditions, and it is this which most of the tests for drunkenness reveal.

While the medical profession as a whole attempts this somewhat unsavoury part of its duties with the knowledge that injustice is rare in drunkenness cases, there is a definite feeling of dissatisfaction with the present position.

THE RECOVERY DRIVE

Mr. Montagu Norman's profession of inability to follow the course of the American industrial recovery drive, sounds a warning against any attempt at interpretation of events, although few will take heed; the subject is too fascinating. The Great Experiment goes on and its success or failure is certain to have an influence on the internal political and economic policy of most every country in the world. An effort to understand and assess is imperative. It is, indeed, probable that Mr. Norman did not intend his hearers to take him seriously; his "modesty" was more likely a sly dig at President Roosevelt's trial and error methods. To-day, Washington is chiefly concerned with the problems of inflation.

There is talk of the issue of large quantities of paper notes; the truth is that no decision has yet been reached. Far more important in the long run, in any event, is the working of the industrial codes and here there is room both for doubts and for encouragement. Three of the most important enrolments under the code banner might more accurately be called "impressions." For the Government had to dictate a code to the oil interests and to lay down an ultimatum for steel and coal. It would have been better if coercion could have been avoided; the most effective recovery is a voluntary one. And coercion is a dangerous weapon. But it might be argued that in these cases it had more justification than where it is applied blindly by popular emotion. Moreover, it may prove a blessing in disguise. For a secondary result of the codes for the oil and steel and coal—reforms in these industries—may very well prove almost as important as the help they may give to the emergency drive for recovery. It is noteworthy that the industries on which the President has used a "big stick" are among those where the worst conditions have existed, both in unfair competition and inhuman working conditions. The oil interests have long sought fair and sound means to restrict production. The steel industry has always had a ticklish labour problem. And the coal fields have been burdened by a chaotic condition of overproduction. Despite spasmodic efforts these problems have drifted along. Some emergency or decisive outside pressure has seemed necessary to stop that drifting. It may very well prove that reforms business has long hesitated to apply because they seemed impossible are not only possible but beneficial when a test is forced.

NOTES OF THE DAY

COLONIAL POLICY

An interesting article on "The Constitutional Significance of the British Colonial Empire" is contributed by Professor T. Walter Wallbank to the September Crown Colonist. Dr. Wallbank is greatly impressed with the economic progress of the Colonial Empire and its importance to British trade; but this, he considers, only makes it more necessary to study its constitutional problems, since economic progress depends upon good government. Sufficient attention has not so far been given to this study, and it is, therefore, instructive to follow Dr. Wallbank in his examination of the constitutional diversity of the Colonies, the formative period, the static or conservative stage, and the experimental or liberalising stage. He has also some interesting remarks on the working of Crown Colony government, and on the development of indirect rule. The views of this detached American observer should prove interesting to all British students of our Colonial administration. The conclusion reached is that while many problems yet await solution and many new problems will arise, there need be little disquietude concerning the future of the British Colonial Empire.

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald appeals for continued unity in support of the National Government, which will soon be celebrating its second birthday, and he is likely to get it. Political theories are in the melting pot. Fascism and Communism have thrust themselves upon the horizon. Dictatorships have been established professing to be more representative of the people than are parliaments. Britons also are coming to terms with the realistic temper of the age. The circumstances which have favoured the National Government during the last two years have been exceptional, scarcely less so than those which necessitated a coalition in the war. There has been a continual sense of crisis, demanding concentration of effort on a few things. The predominant political issues have been world issues, and it is the time-honoured custom of British politicians to drop factiousness in dealing with foreign affairs. And again, the questions on which public affairs have turned have been intricate economic questions which the ordinary man does not fully understand. Preoccupied with such matters Parliament has had little opportunity for oratory or impassioned declamation. It has had the manner of a cool and sedate Council of State.

NOT ALWAYS

But men will not always be content to treat human society as if it were primarily a mass of exclusively economic units. So long as it is preoccupied, as it is now, with the problem of mere survival, Britain's people are willing that other interests should be put aside. But domestic and social issues will again come to the fore, and these will give rise to divergent opinions; then those who hold opinions strongly will seek to gain supremacy in Parliament. Probably it is apathy in regard to all but a few outstanding issues that has led to the suspension of an eager party spirit. It was adversity which produced the united front of the National Government, and fear of economic collapse has maintained it. But any relaxation of economic pressure will release energy for a wider play of ideas; the nation will rediscover the multiplicity of its needs and desires. When new problems present themselves the lines of cleavage will reappear; the conflict of ideas will be expressed in a renewed conflict of parties.

FERRY SERVICES

Unless it is primarily intended for the carriage of farm and garden produce from Kowloon City to Victoria, the proposed new ferry service between central Victoria and Kowloon City, via Hung Hom, would appear to confer benefits. If time is a factor, the journey can almost certainly be covered more quickly from the island by the use of the Star Ferry and the mainland bus services. There would, of course, be a saving in the total cost of the journey in making use of the service now proposed. While it will be generally agreed that the cross-harbour services are far from sufficient for all needs, Government proposals, which seem as men's proposals, which seem, though they have been inspired, will arouse little enthusiasm and will meet the needs only of a few. The Sai Wan Ho service to Hung Hom is in quite a different category, but we would suggest that if Government really desires to provide useful ferry service, one should be established between Wanchai and the mainland, also serving Hung Hom and Kowloon City.

ROBERT LYND ON A PLAGUE OF STRUTTING CAESARS

EVERYBODY seems to be talking dictatorship nowadays. Sir Stafford Cripps apparently does not believe in dictatorship, but even he is infected by the germ of the moment, so that he cannot help writing as if he did.

Mr. Wells tells us that he would be very unhappy under a dictatorship, but, nevertheless, in his new book he relies on a dictatorship to inaugurate the World States of the future.

There must be something very attractive in the idea of dictatorship, because it is spreading among men of all classes, rich or poor, extreme Conservatives and extreme Communists. Almost everybody who possesses a shirt is toying with the idea of himself as a dictator, with a forest of arms going up into the air every time he appears in public.

To be boss of the show and to get one's own way—how it appeals to the human heart from the nursery to senility!

HOW TO GET PEACE.

There are several explanations of the popularity of dictatorship. One is that human beings must have order at any price, and that the best way to produce order is to tell or otherwise incapacitate everybody who disagrees with you.

There can be no more orderly spectacle than a trussed and gagged man.

Another explanation is that this is the Age of Speed, and that the political machine is the only machine left which moves at the pace of the Age of the Horse. People believe in dictatorship because they believe that this means the exchange of the old status quo for a high-powered motorcar.

I am all for speeding up the political machine, but I do not see why it should be put in the hands of a dictator or dictators.

A dictator seems to me to be the motor-bandit or roadhog of politics, careless of the lives and liberties of other people. He undoubtedly achieves speed, but other people pay for it. Even the best dictatorships have their casualties, like road-hogging. And the dictator always drives away after the accident and denies his responsibility for what has happened to the victim who is left lying by the roadside.

The Age of Speed, indeed, in politics as in transport, would be a curse rather than a blessing if steps were not taken to guard against its peculiar dangers. The dictator is like a motorist with a powerful car, who is allowed to drive, without a licence, as recklessly as he likes, drunk or sober, and to obey no law of the road except his own.

If motorists were under as few restrictions as dictators, the worse kind of motorists would make travel on the roads almost impossible for others.

It may be argued that the dictator, like every autocratic ruler, is bound by very real restrictions—that he must behave in such a way as to please his followers—that ultimately his dictatorship must be based on the popular will. It is true that he must remain popular with his followers, but this usually means only that he shares his dictatorship with a well-organised minority of his fellow-citizens who forcibly prevent any attempt on the part of the majority to organise itself in opposition.

Caesar at the top is surrounded by sub-Caesars, and sub-sub-Caesars, and there is a sub-sub-sub Caesar strutting it in every village. Caesar's position depends on the number of people whom he allows to fancy themselves as little Caesars.

Not that the chief objection to dictatorship is that it involves the rule of the minority. I should object to dictatorial methods even if the majority voted for them.

Democracy does not mean the rule of the majority; it means the rule of the majority tempered by respect for the liberty of the minority.

Thus, according to any reasonable theory of democracy the majority has not the right to order the minority to go to church or to abstain from going to church. The majority, again, has not the right to order the minority to drink beer, nor yet, in my opinion, has it the right to order the minority to drink water.

A conservative majority would not have the right, even if it had the power, to suppress the Liberal or Labour Press, nor would a Liberal or Labour majority have the right to suppress the Conservative Press. There are fundamental liberties that have been secured only after generations of struggle, and a majority that tampered with them would be as hateful as any dictator.

The worst of a dictatorship, however, is that its very existence depends on the destruction of these liberties. It takes us back to an age when men were afraid to speak freely on religion and politics lest they should be punished, and when to differ from the official creed was to be branded as a heretic. It brings back persecution into the world—that vilest of all the diseases that ever attacked the spirit of man.

JUST A DISEASE.

It is true that it was quite pleasant to be alive in the ages of persecution—if you were on the side of the persecutors. It is still quite pleasant in this new age of persecution on the same conditions. It was the great discovery of democracy, however, that, for any one except a sadist, a great deal more pleasant is to be got out of life from tolerating one's opponents than from persecuting them.

Why, then, this growing impatience of opposition and this revival of the theory that an opposition is something to be swept from one's path and to be rendered permanently impotent—this increasing tendency to regard an opponent as a child of Satan?

It is due in some countries, as I have said, to the passionate desire to obtain results quickly and, in other countries, to the feeling that any sort of order is preferable to chaos.

The trouble about dictatorship is, however, that it cannot obtain even good results quickly without quickly destroying the equally good results obtained by the struggles of past ages.

I do not like organised political fanaticism any more than I like to increase the happiness of mankind. Yet what is dictatorship as we know it to-day but organised political fanaticism.

It is a disease from which any country ought to rejoice to be immune.

The Very Idea!

HOLY MOSES!

By Ed. Kelly, Bull Rusher

ACCORDING to a news item published on Saturday, the Evangelical Church in Saxony has banned the word "Hallelujah" from its service, because it is a Hebrew expression.

Which is Jews too bad. Still, it gives us a few ideas of our own.

For instance, we are going to ban everyone we owe money to, because the first people to whom money was owed were Jews.

There are several other things we intend to ban, but first of all we want to give you the real low down on the Jewish situation in Germany.

And when we say we're going to give you the low down, you'll find that nothing in the world is lower.

Jewish persecution really started when Moses was born. Pharaoh's daughter brought Moses home, saying she had found him in the bulrushes.

This was the origin of the now famous expression "Oh, yeah!"

Bull rushes are, even to-day, regarded with awe and veneration in some parts of the world. Spanish people flock to the arena to see the bull rush. In England a bull rush usually occurs in a field, while in Australia they invariably happen at cattle stations or ranches.

Hence the Australian slang term "A Fair Cow", gentlemen bulls preferring blondes.

Anyway, when Moses grew into manhood it was evident from the size of his nose that he was a Jew, and Pharaoh forgave his daughter.

Moses then set up as a money lender, and when Pharaoh defaulted on one of his loans, seized two or three pyramids as payment.

At this, Pharaoh was very wroth.

"Egypt me out of my pyramids," he cried. So Pharaoh declared war and seized all the Jewish women.

But the war didn't really start in earnest until Pharaoh, realising his mistake, tried to return the women to their husbands.

Despite all this, building boomed in Cairo. New pyramids were continually going up. It took thirty years to build a first class pyramid, but that was because the work was done by the P. W. D.

Moses and other men with initiative went into business and built pyramids of their own. Soon the supply became greater than the demand and there was a drop of pyramids on the market.

Which accounts for the fact that people stopped building them, and there are no professional pyramid builders in the world to-day.

Naturally this brings us back to Germany. We are going to keep a careful eye on the newspapers all this week, for any day now we expect to see something like this:

TELEGRAPH BANNED Kelly Proved to Be Connected With the Cohens

Berlin, Monday.—Hitler has decided to impose a ban on the Hongkong Telegraph following the disclosure that one of its leading journalists is connected with Cohen, a famous Jew. It is known that Kelly was seen with Cohen in Paris, Africa, Hollywood, Scotland, and Trouble. Interviewed yesterday, Mr. Cohen said that he did not deny the imputation, "Despite the German ban, I am still Cohen strong," he said.

AUSTRALIAN PROTEST Great Industry Threatened With Total Extinction

Sydney, Wednesday.—Mr. J. A. Lyons, the Prime Minister of Australia, has entered a protest against the latest German ban.

Interviewed by Reuters yesterday, Mr. Lyons said that an enormous export sale of Australian rabbits had been built up, and this was now threatened with extinction.

"Australia emphatically says that Germany must not be allowed to impose any ban on Rabbi Pie," he said. It is understood that, unless this question is satisfactorily settled, an Australian test team will not visit England next year.

EINSTEIN'S THEORY Germany Imposes Ban On Jewish Products

Berlin, Tuesday.—All relatives have been banned from Germany, commencing at midnight, to-morrow. Investigations have disclosed that the Theory of Relativity was invented by Einstein, a Jew.

Although official protests have been lodged in Berlin against this ban, it is understood that international sentiment is not altogether opposed to it.

Popular demonstrations in favour of the ban have been held in London, Paris, New York, Hongkong, and other centres, speakers pointing out that the ban would apply to mothers-in-law.

"You see, we don't want to discourage his talent."

BOY'S EXTRAORDINARY RECORD

"Although so young, he is an old offender," said Sub-inspector Dredge before Mr. Balfour in the Central Magistracy this morning, when a boy, Chan Kwan, aged 12 years, was sent to prison for seven days for stealing two rolls of cloth from the Cheung Wah Company, Queen's Road Central.

The defendant pleaded guilty to stealing and also admitted three previous convictions for larceny and another for attempted theft.

S. I. Dredge informed the Court that salesman observed the boy walking about in the shop with his arms akimbo. He questioned him, made him uncross his arms and the cloth fell to the ground. The boy was Hongkong born but had no parents living.

THREE KILLED IN QUAKE

COMMUNICATIONS DISRUPTED

Kanazawa, Sept. 21.

An earthquake which started at 12:12 this afternoon rocked western Japan, taking at least three lives and causing scattered damage.

The shock was most severe in Ishikawa and Tokama prefectures, on the Noto peninsula, where it was markedly perceptible for three minutes.

The damage, which was less than at first feared, including smokestacks shaken down, roofs and walls cracked, crevices in roads four inches wide in some places, and railways twisted.

It was several hours before details were available, communication being disrupted. The Noto section suffered most, and Nanao, Iida, Wajima, Wakura and Anamizu were heavily rocked. Fukui, Nagano and Niiga prefectures were more lightly shaken.

COINING COPPER COINS

CHINESE "CHOP" MAKER SENTENCED

Police Constable Cashman, patrolling in Man Wa Lane on Saturday afternoon, happened upon a man making counterfeit Hongkong copper cents, using a hammer and chisel.

Chan Sit, 42, a licensed "chop" maker, was brought before Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning charged with (a) possession of an instrument for making counterfeit coins, and (b) making the coins.

He was sentenced to four months' hard labour.

CHINA FINANCE ZONES

MR. T. V. SOONG'S NEW PLAN

Shanghai, Sept. 25. In order to maintain the efficiency of the financial administration, Mr. T. V. Soong is reported to have drawn up a plan for the division of China into several zones in each of which a finance inspector will be appointed to supervise and direct the improvement of the administration.

North China and the Yangtze Valley will be divided into separate financial zones.—Central News Agency.

CHAOS EXTENDS IN CUBA

of warehousemen ends shortly there will be a shortage of food in Havana.

Many towns reported numerous cases of malaria, conditions being especially bad at Cienfuegos.

Mobs of workers, said to be supporters of the revolutionary regime of President Grau San Martin, in power since the first of the month, are threatening to seize the Solad sugar mills near Cienfuegos, and the Tacajo mill in Oriente province.

The tense labour situation at Santiago resulted in bloodshed when army units commanded by revolutionary students fired on a communist demonstration, wounding four persons.

STERN METHODS WITH ARMY

DEATH PENALTY FOR NEGLIGENCE

Kuling, Sept. 20.

All officers below the rank of brigade-major are to be set examinations to test their knowledge of military matters, according to the latest edict of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek. At first, the decree will apply only to the Government armies in Kiangsi, Hunan, Hupoh, and Honan. The examinations will take place once in three months for officers below the rank of divisional commander, once a month for those below brigadier, and once a week for those below regimental commander.

Officers above the rank of brigade-major are liable to a personal examination by Gen. Chiang Kai-shek at any time, without notice.

Officers found negligent in carrying out orders in connection with the anti-Communist campaign are liable to various severe sentences, including capital punishment.—Reuter.

CASTLE RAIDED BY NAZIS

HIGH STATE OFFICIAL ARRESTED

Berlin, Sept. 20.

Nazi Storm Troopers and political police raided a castle in the Franconian Jura, near the town of Heidenheim, to-day and arrested 41 men and women on a charge of plotting against the National Socialist state.

The names of the prisoners were not disclosed, but a Nazi official states they are composed of a high state official and his family, several judges and professors and some aristocrats. They are described as "highly intellectual people," and, according to the leader of the Storm Troops who participated in the raid, they will be dealt with more severely on account of that fact.—Reuter.

FRANCO-AMERICAN BARTER PLAN

COTTON FOR FRENCH GOODS

New York, Sept. 20.

The American banker Neldeker, who returned recently from a trip to Paris, is to go, according to the Journal of Commerce, to Washington with the object of negotiating there the purchase of three million bales of American cotton in exchange for French merchandise. It is added by the journal that the two governments would accord credits to the merchants concerned.

All knowledge of this transaction is denied by well informed French circles, and American cotton dealers also declare that they are not aware of it. It is remarked in some circles that the figure of three million is either erroneous or fantastic, as France does not consume more than from seven or eight hundred thousand bales of cotton.—Havas.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

OUR WISDOM IS NO LESS AT FORTUNE'S MERCY THAN OUR WEALTH.—Rochefoucauld.

The B.L. s.s. Sirdhana will leave Amoy for this Port to-morrow afternoon and will arrive on Wednesday afternoon.

Knocked down by a motor cycle at the junction of Argyle Street and Nathan Road on Saturday afternoon, Lam Sap (35), a Chinese male, was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital. His condition is not serious.

A would-be suicide, Hui Lee-see, aged 42, was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital during the week-end after being rescued from the harbour into which she had thrown herself from the seawall at Kennedy Town.

M. G. S. Borsky, 32, unemployed, appeared before Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning, charged with entering the Colony without a valid passport, and with vagrancy. A conviction was registered on the first charge and defendant was committed to the House of Detention. An expulsion order was made on the application of Detective-Sergeant Mottram.

THE UNITED THEATRES

Appointment of Receiver Ordered

COURT ACTION.

A motion for equitable relief, including the appointment of a receiver with full power and authority to conduct business of the United Theatres, Inc., was granted by Judge Milton D. Purdy last week in the U. S. Court for China, in the action of Ko Leung Hoe, Lo Kan, and twelve other Chinese stockholders, and China Brothers Co., against the United Theatres, Inc., which operates the Grand Theatre, Cathay Theatre, and several other cinemas and concerns doing motion picture business.

Dr. G. Sellett, for the plaintiffs, stated that defendants embarked on a Tis. 3,000,000 business with only Tis. 1,917,000 paid in. As a result, they experienced difficulties despite the fact that the Grand Theatre, was making $20,000 to 25,000 and Cathay Theatre, 5,000 a month. Since August 29, numerous liens amounting to Tis. 555,000 were filed against the defendants, while other suits not filed asked for payments amounting to Tis. 500,000. The assets of the defendants as a going concern exceeded the total of all their obligations by approximately Tis. 1,200,000. Should all actions against the defendants be permitted to go to judgment, the assets of the firm would be entirely consumed, and the creditors would not be paid in full. The motion for the appointment of a receiver was to save the business and the protection of interests of both creditors and stockholders.

On the question as to who should be appointed the receiver, Dr. Sellett nominated Mr. R. W. Peters, while Mr. W. B. Harrington, for certain creditors, nominated Mr. H. F. Payne. After some argument, Dr. Sellett stated that the reason he objected to the appointment of Mr. Payne was that he had connections with a certain party obligated to the defendant firm to the amount of more than one million taels. In this connection, Dr. Sellett mentioned Mr. Grant Mark and said both Mr. Mark and Mr. Payne were officials of a certain concern which undertook to write approximately Tis. 3,000,000 shares to be paid in by December 31 this year. If all this money had been paid in, the defendant concern would not be in the difficulties it was now.

Judge Purdy reserved his decision as to who should be appointed the receiver. Besides Dr. Sellett, other lawyers appearing included Mr. H. D. Rodger and Mr. M. Weiner for the defendant firm, Mr. F. J. Schuhl, Mr. N. E. Lutton, Dr. F. Wilhelm, Mr. P. Felson, Mr. C. P. Holcomb, Mr. W. B. Harrington, and Mr. N. F. Allan for the creditors.

DETAILS OF COMPLAINT. Following are extracts from the complaint: The defendants were organised on or about January 22, 1932, and have an authorised capital stock of one million shares of the par value of Tis. 5 per share, making a total authorised capital of Tis. 5,000,000. To the date of filing this complaint approximately 383,400 shares have been issued. Of the Tis. 1,917,000 paid in for the issued shares, the fourteen complainants held Tis. 504,500. At the time the firm was organised, the directors and officers of defendants made plans for carrying on business which would require a paid-in capital of Tis. 3,000,000 and in carrying out these plans incurred obligations and expenses which could be currently met only if approximately Tis. 3,000,000 of shares of the capital stock were issued and paid up. In consequence, the defendants experienced difficulties. Several suits have been filed by creditors demanding payment of sums aggregating approximately $750,000. The contractors and material-men who built and furnished the Grand Theatre have also filed suits against defendants and a bill in equity has been filed praying for the sale of the theatre to satisfy one of said liens. Other secured and unsecured creditors of the defendants having claims amounting to approximately $500,000 are pressing for payment of their claims. There is also rent due and unpaid covering a period of about one and two-thirds months in the sum of approximately $36,013.28, payable to the owner of the land upon which the Grand Theatre is situated, and a civil suit has been filed in the Court against defendants by the landlord for repossession of the land and Grand Theatre for an alleged breach of the covenant of the lease.

Should all the above-mentioned suits be allowed to proceed and result in judgments, seizures, and forced sales of all the property of defendants, the defendants would be compelled to cease conducting their business, and only a small percentage of the real worth and value of said properties would be realised, with the result that only fully secured creditors would be fully paid and the unsecured creditors would remain unpaid, and the shares and stock held and owned by the stockholders would be without value and the investment a total loss.

RELIEF IN EQUITY. Upon the intervention of the court and the granting of the equitable relief prayed for, including the appointment of a receiver, the business can be profitably conducted so that in a reasonable period of time the just claims and demands of all creditors can be fully met, and the value of the stock of the corporation preserved and protected for the benefit of its stockholders.

TWO KILLED AND TWO INJURED

EXPLOSION ON EAST RIVER BOAT

While the Shang Shang Motor Boat which plies between Canton and Wai Chow was anchored at the Shek Lung landing, discharging passengers and cargo, an explosion occurred.

The Yik Sun firecracker store were consigning a shipment of crackers and "sundries" to Heung Shui Hui.

As the coolies were loading the "sundries" basket the man from the store shouted out "Be Careful," but the coolies gave it a toss and as it struck the boards of the deck it exploded. Two of the boat cargo coolies were killed immediately, two others were seriously wounded and two passengers were so badly wounded that they had to be carried from the boat and taken to the Adventist Mission Hospital at Wai Chow when the boat arrived.

A number of others were struck by flying bamboos and boards, but were given first aid at Shek Lung and were able to return to Canton or return home.

The Yik Sun store at Shek Lung has been closed by the police and all connected with it are being held for investigation.

TWO MEN EFFECT PURSE SNATCHING

DISTRICT WATCHMAN OBSERVES INCIDENT

Ho Leung, convicted by Mr. Balfour in the Central Police Court this morning on a charge of aiding and abetting another Chinese to steal a purse, containing 82 cents; from the pocket of a compatriot, was sentenced to one month's hard labour. The stealer, Tang Kau, who pleaded guilty, was sent to prison for three weeks with hard labour.

The incident occurred on the praya near the Cheung On wharf. Two district watchmen observed Tang Kau walk on the complainant's left and the other defendant on the right. Ho Leung, it was alleged, impeded the unwary complainant while Tang Kau lifted the purse. Ho Leung pleaded from the dock that he was arrested merely on suspicion.

cers of defendants made plans for carrying on business which would require a paid-in capital of Tis. 3,000,000 and in carrying out these plans incurred obligations and expenses which could be currently met only if approximately Tis. 3,000,000 of shares of the capital stock were issued and paid up. In consequence, the defendants experienced difficulties. Several suits have been filed by creditors demanding payment of sums aggregating approximately $750,000. The contractors and material-men who built and furnished the Grand Theatre have also filed suits against defendants and a bill in equity has been filed praying for the sale of the theatre to satisfy one of said liens. There is also rent due and unpaid covering a period of about one and two-thirds months in the sum of approximately $36,013.28, payable to the owner of the land upon which the Grand Theatre is situated, and a civil suit has been filed in the Court against defendants by the landlord for repossession of the land and Grand Theatre for an alleged breach of the covenant of the lease.

PLASTERER CAUGHT IN LOCKSMITHS

Tai Tung-sang, an artistic plasterer, charged before Mr.
Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, with the larceny of a brass door lock from the Lam Wu Contractors building in Gloucester Road was sentenced to six weeks hard labour.

Defendant said that he was employed there, and as he has lost a suit of clothes he was taking the lock to have a key made for it.

Sub-inspector Nolloth said that the defendant was arrested coming out of a locksmiths shop in Tai Yuen Street. He said he had taken the lock to have a key made for it. It was given him by a friend. The lock had been taken from the Naval Canteen under construction in Gloucester Road.

S. AFRICA AND BODYLINE

NOT TO LEGISLATE

APPEAL MADE TO CAPTAINS

TYPE OF BOWLING DEPRECATED

Johannesburg, Sept. 24. South Africa has added its voice of protest against the practice of body-line bowling, but it does not take the form of legislation, but merely a resolution deprecating the deliberate use of any style of bowling liable to intimidate or injure batsmen.

According to a Reuters message, the South African Cricket Association has decided not to follow Australia's example of legislating against body-line bowling.

The Association has, however, passed a resolution, deprecating the deliberate use of bowling liable to intimidate or injure a batsman.

APPEAL TO CAPTAINS. The Association expresses the opinion that this undesirable practice should not be counteracted by giving the umpires greater powers.

Nevertheless, the Association appeals to all Unions to use their best endeavours to discourage the use of such bowling and trusts that all captains will maintain their authority to maintain the spirit of the game.

FOOTBALL REVIEWED

ARMY OUTPLAYED AT ALL POINTS BY SOUTH CHINA

With the league season opening next Saturday, football was the order of the day during the week-end, and several matches were played, including the important meeting between South China and the Army. Reports of some of the games will be found below. The results in brief were:

S. China	5	Army	1
Kowloon	9	St. Joseph's	0
Club "A"	2	Lincolns "A"	5
Recreio	2	Kowloon "A"	0

LINCOLNS SHOW THEIR WORTH

POOR DISPLAY BY CLUB FORWARDS

A curious reversal of form by the Hongkong Football Club teams on Saturday did nothing to pacify the disquietness of their supporters; yet it would be unfair to make an unqualified condemnation of the teams' displays.

The Club ran up against the Lincolns with the soldiers at the peak of their form, and even South China would have had a hard task in conquering them. The first eleven were especially brilliant and in winning 7-1 were in no way flattered.

True, the Club's attempts to counter the Lincolns' 'dour' defenders and foraging forwards were not particularly bright and most certainly the 'work of the whole team fell far below that shown in the two previous matches this season.

But it has to be recognised that the Lincolns, indulging in that early dash and skill which generates match-winning confidence, played a Grade football throughout.

SUPERIOR HALVES. Their real superiority was to be found in the half back and forward lines. Positional changes in the vanguard made a tremendous difference. Cpl. McGuinness occupied the leadership with rare success, but Ridley was the real brains of the attack, and if this form is any true criterion for the approaching league season, I can see Interport honours coming his way.

The Lincolns quickly discovered a weakness in the Club's inter-mediate and made the utmost of it. Baldry and Hocquard, finding they could clearly outpace Duncan and Watson, satisfied themselves with this method of attack, and in consequence an impossible burden was placed on Syd. Strange and Desmond Hynes, the Club's full backs. In addition these players were handicapped in the knowledge that Hills, the new custodian, was anything but confident.

Under the circumstances both gave extremely capable displays, and could not be blamed for having the goal pierced seven times.

FORWARDS FAIL. The most unaccountable feature of the Club was the wretchedness of the forwards. All idea of cohesion went by the board, and Dudley, Cork and Betts, the Lincolns' half backs found it easy to smother the individualistic movements of Howe and his colleagues.

Bickford and Howe occasionally sounded a warning note with a burst through, but the soldiers' defence saw to it that the danger did not develop.

The Lincolns were three up at the interval, Ridley (2) and Hocquard scoring, whilst further goals by McGuinness (2) Ridley and Harding saw the soldiers make the total up to seven before Fowler obtained the Club's solitary goal in the closing minutes.

TEAMS: Lincolns:—Heath; Turner and Roden; Dudley, Cork and Betts; Baldry, Harding, McGuinness, Ridley and Hocquard. Club:—Hills; Hynes and Strange; Watson, Skinner and Duncan; Fowler, Williams, Howe, E. Strange, and Bickford.

Yesterday's football match at Caroline Hill between South China and the Army offered a typical commentary on the essential distinction between the Chinese and European teams in Hongkong.

The soldiers enjoyed a territorial advantage for two thirds of the game yet they could only score once against South China's five goals.

The Army showed a deplorable lack of finish, whereas the odds against the Chinese from scoring when on the move were never more than two to one. And this in spite of the absence of Fung King-chung and Ip Pak-wa.

It is difficult to say to what extent the forthcoming visit of South China to Nanking is going to affect their prospects in the local league, but on yesterday's showing I fail to see any team capable of wresting the championship from them.

The Army turned out about the strongest team possible and were beaten at all points. Their best methods earned for them a bigger share of the game, but the forwards failed to show sufficient initiative and push to overcome the Li Tin-sung, Lau Mau and Wong Wah-kwai combination.

Fourty was dashing, but too well marked to become a danger, and Allan, the Interport right back, though responsible for a couple of splendid shots, was obviously out of place at inside right. Baldry and Hocquard on the wings were badly neglected, and Harding was not a successful substitute for Ridley at inside left.

The only Army players to justify themselves were Mullane, Podmore and Morrison, whilst Combey performed quite creditably in goal.

SPLENDID BALANCE. South China showed splendid balance. There was not a weak spot in the team. Wong Wah-kwai is going to prove a worthy successor to Lim Thin-chan in goal.

But the real brilliance was to be found in the forward line. Yeung Shui-yick, four feet of brains and skill, gave a delightful display on the right wing. Time and again he waltzed round Cork and Morrison and his centres were models.

Tam Kong-pak was in his element and I have never seen him play better. He scored two very clever goals and was constantly threatening danger to Mullane and his colleagues.

Wong Mee-shun was fairly well held individually, but he invariably managed to get the ball out to Yeung and it was this virile right wing which caused the Army defence lots of anxious moments.

South China were three up at the interval, goals being scored by Wong Mee-shun (penalty), Yeung Shui-yick and Tam Kong-pak, and two further goals were added after the interval by Tam and Wong before the Army scored their only point through Fourty.

TEAMS: South China:—Wong Wah-kwai; Li Tin-sung and Lau Mau; Leung In-chun, Leung Wing-chui and Leo Kwok-wai; Yeung Shui-yick, Wong Mee-shun, Pan Kal-ping, Tam Kong-pak and Tong Kwan. Army:—Combey; Mullane and Morrison; Podmore, Pardoe and Cork; Baldry, Allan, Fourty, Harding and Hocquard.

Alliss led by three holes at the ninth and one at the 18th. He was two up at the 27th hole.—Reuters.

BETTER AND BETTER

VIRILE KOWLOON VANGUARD

Kowloon's re-arrangements in the team against St. Joseph's on Saturday appeared to have the desired effect. Anyway they won handsomely, and without attaching too much importance to the score, it can be claimed that the Peninsula men gave a distinctly promising account of themselves.

V. White was unable to turn out and this meant a reshuffling of the forward line, with excellent results. Owen Davies was brought into the team, occupying the right wing, G. White came in as his partner and Hills and Blake formed the left wing. Elliott retained the pivotal position and this quintette fairly played the Saints' defence to a standstill.

Perhaps, however, one of the most gratifying features of the game from the Kowloon viewpoint, was the form of the half back line. Webb greatly strengthened this section and with Jones, playing well within himself yet in complete control of Saints' inside, trio, and Bliss, better than ever on the left flank, the old college boys found it impossible to make much progress in attack.

NO DEFENCE.

Many old faces were to be recognised in the St. Joseph's line up, but their customary skill was sadly lacking. Quite obviously, the Gosano brothers were missed, but the real weakness was in defence.

After last year's experience one would have expected some improvement here.

Kowloon so dominated the exchanges, that for the most part they were shooting in goal.

TEAMS: Kowloon:—Gurevitch; Willis and Goughly; Webb, Jones and Bliss; O. Davies, G. White, Elliott, Hill and Blake.

St. Joseph's:—Marques Gomes and Lawrence; Fernandes, Costa and V. Marques; Sabban, Roche, D. Leonard, A. Ward and Laurel.

SWIMMERS' ACTIVE WEEK-END

HARBOUR RACE & GALAS

LEADING RESULTS

Hongkong's aquatic enthusiasts had a veritable carnival during the week-end, when in addition to the H.K.I.S.A., Harbour Race held yesterday, no fewer than four aquatic meetings took place.

The Harbour Race provided no surprise results. W. T. Campbell of the Y.M.C.A., won the men's event as expected, covering the distance in 28 minutes 9.4/5 seconds, while Miss Yeung Sau-ling carried off the Ladies race, winning in the time of 31 minutes 47.1/5 seconds.

Thirteen of the sixteen starters in the men's event finished the course, and all five of the women competitors accomplished a similar performance.

The first three to finish in both races were:

MEN'S

1. W. T. Campbell (Y.M.C.A.)
2. Kwok Chun-hang (South China A.A.)
3. Wong Lu-man (South China A.A.)

LADIES

1. Miss Yeung Sau-ling (South China A.A.)
2. Miss Yeung Sau-chun (South China A.A.)
3. Miss Dora Lum (Chung Sing)

POST OFFICE ROBBERY.

IRON SAFE

The mysterious disappearance of a sum of about $1,587 in banknotes from a safe situated behind the central counter of General Post Office is engaging the attention of the police, who were called in early on Saturday morning to investigate the robbery.

The money was found missing when the clerk opened the safe to begin his duties in the morning. There was a sum of about $3,500 in the safe at the time, and some stamps, but these were not touched, the thief merely contenting himself with taking the banknotes.

A very significant aspect of the robbery is that there were no marks of damage on the safe, which leads the police to believe that the thief or thieves must have used a duplicate key.

The method of entry into the office also seems to be very mysterious, as it was impossible for the robbery to have been committed in broad daylight, situated as the safe is in the general view of all the clerks and persons entering the Post Office to buy stamps. There is a bright light above the safe.

Mr. W. J. Carrie, the Post Master General, when interviewed by a representative of the South China Morning Post, expressed the opinion that the thief or thieves must have concealed themselves in the office before the closing of the doors on Friday evening, and committed the robbery at their leisure, walking out when the doors were opened on Saturday morning. There is good reason to believe this must have been the case, because none of the doors had been forced open or the locks tampered with.

No suspicion attaches to any of the clerks, for the money was all intact when the day's work was over.

The police are busy making investigations, but so far no arrests have been made.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST,
SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was: "Behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind" (Isaiah 65:17).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright. For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth. By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations" (Ps. 33:14, 15).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To grasp the reality and order of being in its science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine Principle of all that really is. There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause" (pp. 275, 207).

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Is Diana Wynyard, the lovely English girl, who has created a sensation in Hollywood's film of Noel Coward's "Cavalcade" to share the martyrdom of the few film beauties who seem fated to grow prematurely old? Cinemagoers will be able to form their own conclusions when they see the film at the King's Theatre to-day.

For months the Fox Company searched for an English girl who could be expected to give a true characterization of the dignified, austere Jane Marryot who is the chief character in "Cavalcade."

Tests proved that even the best that the stage could offer would in no way satisfy the film camera.

Then Diana Wynyard, at that time unknown in Hollywood, was tested. She went before the camera as the young Jane Marryot of 1890, fresh, young wife and mother, into whose life a lone shadow was cast by dark Africa.

The result of the test was electrifying: here was a striking new star, a pure English type with great dramatic force and with regal dignity substantiated in the best British womanhood.

But Hollywood still doubted whether Miss Wynyard could play the part. For Jean Marryot she must be able to start her performance at the age of 32 and end it as a woman of 65.

With faint hopes they asked 20-year-old Diana to show them she could do with the character of Jane Marryot aged 65. Clothes, make-up and art combined in the making of the most astonishing film test turned out of the experimental studios of Hollywood.

Diana, as the whole film world now acknowledges, was Jane Marryot. Not only the Jane of 1900 with the two young children, but the bereaved, elderly and childless Jane of 1932. Her greatest hope is that her great "Cavalcade" success will not result in a long succession of "old woman" parts.

With her in "Cavalcade" are Clive Brook, Irene Browne, Herbert Mundin, and Una O'Connor who also act with the story. Other British artists in the film include Frank Lawton, Ursula Jeans, Merle Tottenham, Margaret Lindsay and Tempe Pigott. All are British.

"The White Sister"

A new contribution to the list of imposing screen achievements came yesterday to the Queen's Theatre in the presentation of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's talking-picture version of "The White Sister," with Helen Hayes and Clark Gable in the principal roles.

In its poignant, touching narrative, its beautiful direction, its effective camera work and in the brilliant performance of its two well-known stars, this picture stands out forcibly as an example of the best in cinema art.

F. Marion Crawford's immortal story of the girl who enters a convent when she believes her lover to be dead only to meet him again after she has taken her holy vows, is too well known to bear repetition in these columns. Sufficient to say that the new talkie version of the tale brings out its most forceful moments, describes the experience and her soldier-lover in a series of warm sympathetic human episodes and brings the narrative to a close in as heartrending a climax as has been seen on the screen in some time.

"Infernal Machine"

Chartered accountant, actor, war veteran with five years' service, director of stage plays and motion pictures in two languages are some of the activities Marcel Varnel has crowded into thirty-eight busy years.

A native of Paris he was educated in Chaptal College there, at Charter House, London, and the French Conservatory, of Dramatic Arts in his home city. Then he took a business course in college and qualified as an expert accountant.

His father wanted him to follow in his footsteps as manager of the Paris markets, but young Varnel preferred the stage. After playing a variety of roles for three years, he became a stage director, staging plays with such famous actresses as Duse and Rejane.

He entered the war as a private and was discharged five years later as a first lieutenant. He was twice taken prisoner by the Germans, but escaped each time after recovering from injuries.

In 1925 he came to America and directed "Countess Maritza," "Circus

Princess," "Sunny Days," "Street Singers," "Ladies All," "As You Desire Me."

He signed a Fox contract in 1931 and his present production, a comedy romance, the "Infernal Machine," opening next Wednesday at the King's Theatre, with Chester Morris and Genevieve Tobin featured, together with Victor Jory, is the third he has directed. His others were "The Silent Witness" and "Chandu the Magician." Advance notices state that the "Infernal Machine," adapted from a novel by Carl Sloboda outdistances all his other work because of its sustained humorous quality and pictorial charm.

"Gabriel Over the White House"

Those who look for motion picture entertainment permeated with the tense, authentic melodrama of actual headlines in to-day's news will find "Gabriel Over the White House," now Cosmopolitan Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production coming on Thursday to the Queen's Theatre one of the outstanding talkie events of the year.

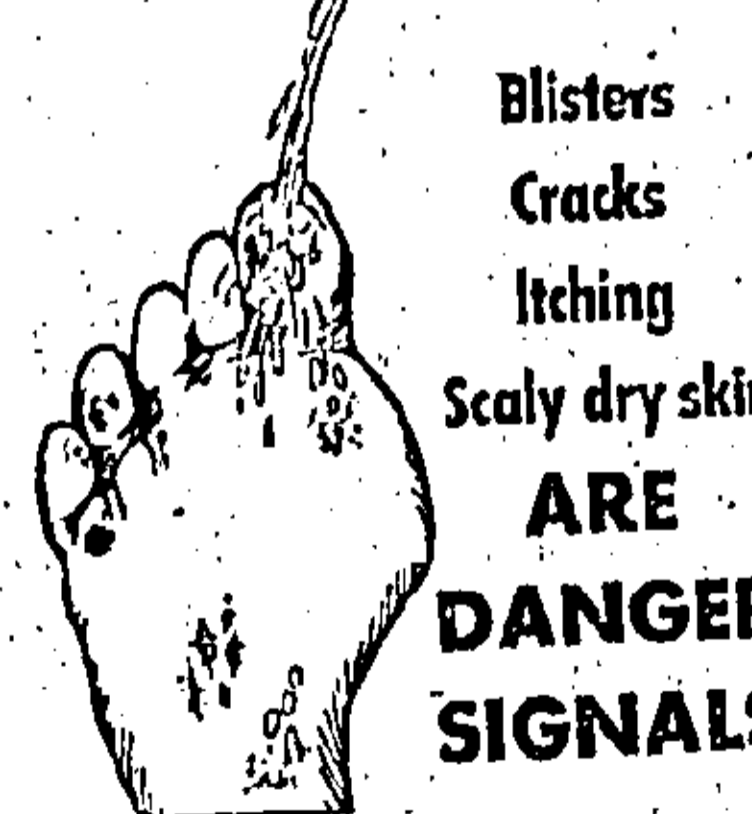

This picture was adapted from the most daring expose of Washington ever written. Its anonymous author knew his politics and at the same time weaved into his story of a United States President who steps out and does something about current problems an unusually gripping human theme.

Headed by Walter Huston as the President who overnight is transformed from an insouciant, back-slapping politician to a man of iron, the distinguished cast of "Gabriel Over the White House" includes Karen Morley, Franchot Tone, Arthur Byron, Dickie Moore, C. Henry Gordon, David Landau, Samuel Hinds, William Pawley, Jean Parker and Claire Dubrey.

The drama, starts with the inauguration of the simple, back-country man, Jud Hammond, who becomes the Hon. Judson Hammond, President of the United States. His first press conference shows him to be a typical politician, jovial, insouciant, evasive, unwilling to cope courageously with national problems. He is injured in an accident and on his return to work following a long period of illness which has given him time to think things over, he becomes a new Judson Hammond, hard instead of soft, decisive instead of vacillating.

He fires the Secretary of War and asks for the resignation of his entire cabinet when they hesitate to support his moves to relieve the Unemployment Army. He demands that Congress give him the powers of a dictator. He fights directly with the "king" of the racketeers and through a federal police force wipes him out. He forces an International Debt Congress, not behind closed doors but on the deck of a yacht where a graphic demonstration of how quickly warcraft may be destroyed by airplanes leads to debt payment via sums saved in disarmament.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

While the one over one is a powerful bidding weapon, make sure that it is your servant and that it does not become your master—in other words, don't abuse this one over one bid. There are times when, even though the one over one might be employed it should be foregone for a better bid. Take for example the following hand.

The Bidding

South, the dealer, opened the contracting with one heart. West passed. North can employ the one over one and bid one spade; but with this type of hand North definitely knows that it should be played in no trump. He has a tenace position in spades and diamonds and a valuable queen of clubs to be led up to.

Therefore, with this type of hand, don't seek further information by employing the one over one, but rather give your partner information and jump the contract to three no trump. This is a definite slam try. South, with his king and jack of spades and the queen of diamonds, can go to four no trump and North will carry the contract to six.

The Play

The opening lead by East is the jack of clubs and it is won in dummy with the ace.

This opening lead practically marks East with four clubs. The declarer can count four spade tricks, three diamonds, three clubs and a heart—11 in all. Either

♠A-Q-9-8	♥A-Q-6	♦A-K-3-2	♣A-K-5-3
♠10-7-6	♥8-7-2	♦K-J-10	♣K-10-5-4
♠9-3-5	♥3-2	♦J-10	♣J-10
♠7-4	♥	♦	♣
♠K-J-5	♥A-9-5-4-3	♦	♣A-K-2

an extra trick must be made in hearts or a squeeze must be employed, therefore the safer play is to lead a small heart, hoping to find the king in the West hand.

When West plays low declarer plays the queen and East wins the trick with the king. Of course East's best play is to lead the jack of hearts, knocking out dummy's ace.

The declarer now runs off four spade tricks, discarding a small heart from dummy on the fourth spade. East lets go a diamond.

Then the declarer takes three rounds of diamonds, and on the third diamond East is squeezed. He cannot let go the ten of hearts or dummy's nine will be good, so he must let go a club.

In that case the declarer drops a heart from dummy and wins the last three tricks with clubs, successfully making his small slam contract.

MR. M. B. YUNG

HONGKONG RESIDENT DIES IN PEIPING

The untimely death of Mr. Morrison Brown Yung, former Canton and Hongkong resident, and related to several local bankers and merchants of the Yung family, occurred at Peking on September 11.

Mr. Yung was the eldest son of Dr. Yung Wing, old Kuomintang member and former high official of the Manchu Government. He was educated at Yale and Columbia Universities in the United States as a mining expert. On his return to Hongkong some twelve years ago he served with the Kuomintang Government under Dr. Sun Yat-sen in Canton about the year 1923-24 as Government mining expert. After the death of Sun Yat-sen he established the Asia Coal and Briquetting Company Limited in Hongkong and Shanghai. In recent years Mr. Yung, except for an occasional business trip, spent most of his time in Shanghai as Chairman of this coal company. Some weeks ago he went to Peking to recuperate after a serious illness and his death was a big surprise to members of his family in Hongkong.

The deceased is survived by his wife, a son and brother, who is in Shanghai.

The wife of the deceased is a sister of Mr. Sydney Ng Quinn of Hongkong. It is understood that the remains of the deceased will be sent back here for interment.

Deceased's father, Dr. Yung Wing, was many years ago, under the Manchu Government, the Chinese Minister to Washington, and was a well known education pioneer, who was instrumental in sending hundreds of Peking Government students to America for education including such well known persons as Sir Shou-son Chow and Mr. Tang Shao-yi. These were both, when they returned, on Yuan Shih-kai's staff when the last named administered Korea for China. Dr. Yung Wing wrote a book, "My Life in China and America."

DEFRAUDING BUS COMPANY

YOUNG CONDUCTOR CONVICTED

Joining the staff of the Kowloon Motor Bus Company on September 4, Lau Man, a young conductor, was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning with attempting to defraud the Bus Company.

It was alleged by Detective Sergeant Lamont that defendant gave two tickets, Nos. 3310 and 3321, to Corporal Whitmore and his wife when they boarded the bus at the junction of Nathan Road and Waterloo Road about 7 p.m. on Saturday. The two tickets should have had running numbers as they were paid for at the same time.

After handing the two tickets to Corporal Whitmore, accused wanted to take them back because, he said, one ticket was for Mrs. Whitmore. Corporal Whitmore refused to separate the tickets as it made no difference to him.

Later, an inspector boarded the bus, and accused once again tried to get Corporal Whitmore to give one ticket to his wife. Corporal Whitmore again refused.

On examining the tickets, the inspector asked Corporal Whitmore where he and his wife boarded the bus, and the latter told him. The inspector became suspicious and reported the matter to the Company and later to the Police.

After evidence had been given by Corporal Whitmore, accused stated that the ticket No. 3310 had been torn off the book by mistake. Six passengers had got on the bus at Shamshui but he had inadvertently punched seven tickets. He had intended to sell this one to the next passenger, but had forgotten about it until Corporal Whitmore came up.

Mr. Wynne-Jones—I am sorry, I don't believe you.

A fine of $50 or six weeks was imposed.

PLACATORY SPEECHES

MR. QUEZON AND MR. OSMENA

Manila, Sept. 23. The way for a friendly understanding between the majority and the minority in the legislature was believed to have been paved by speeches last night in the Senate by the leaders of the two factions.

President Manuel Quezon started the ball rolling with a brief but pregnant speech tracing the history of his stand for the plebiscite and his opposition to the law. He invited a hearing of all points of view. Senator Sergio Osmena, minority leader, responded in the same friendly vein that Mr. Quezon spoke, regretting the injection of personalities in the discussion of the independence law and declaring that divergence of opinion on the law arose from honest differences of opinion on so broad and fundamental a subject regarding which it was only human and natural that there should be no universal agreement even among a people who all want their freedom and independence.

"DEEP SATISFACTION"

Senate President Quezon was so moved by the Osmena remarks about differences of opinion on the law as due to honest differences of conviction that he stood up for the second time to air his grievances against those who have charged him with sinister and unholy motives in opposing the law.

"I want to express my deep satisfaction over the statement here of Senator Osmena regarding those who sustain views opposed to theirs," he said, "because time and again I have been charged by some with motives not entirely honest and complimentary in taking

SHANGHAI COMPANY APPLICATION

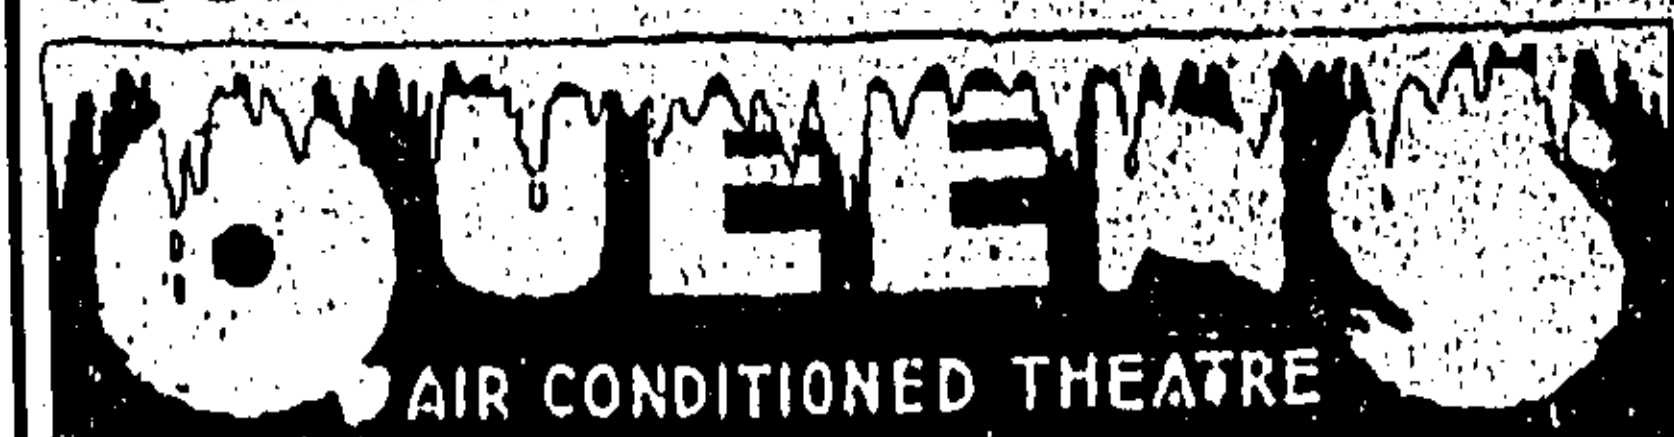

Shanghai, Sept. 22. The Shanghai Telephone Company has formally lodged with the Shanghai Municipal Council and the Municipalit6 Francaise an application for permission to increase its tariff. The terms of the application have not been disclosed for the matter has not yet been considered by the Public Utilities Committee which will be required to report to the Council on the subject.

It will be recalled that the Council when granting the Anson rates last year in accordance with the provisions of the franchise which entitled the Company to the new rates on the completion of the conversion of the system to automatic working, reserved the question of any further increase for investigation. For that increase the Company is now making application.

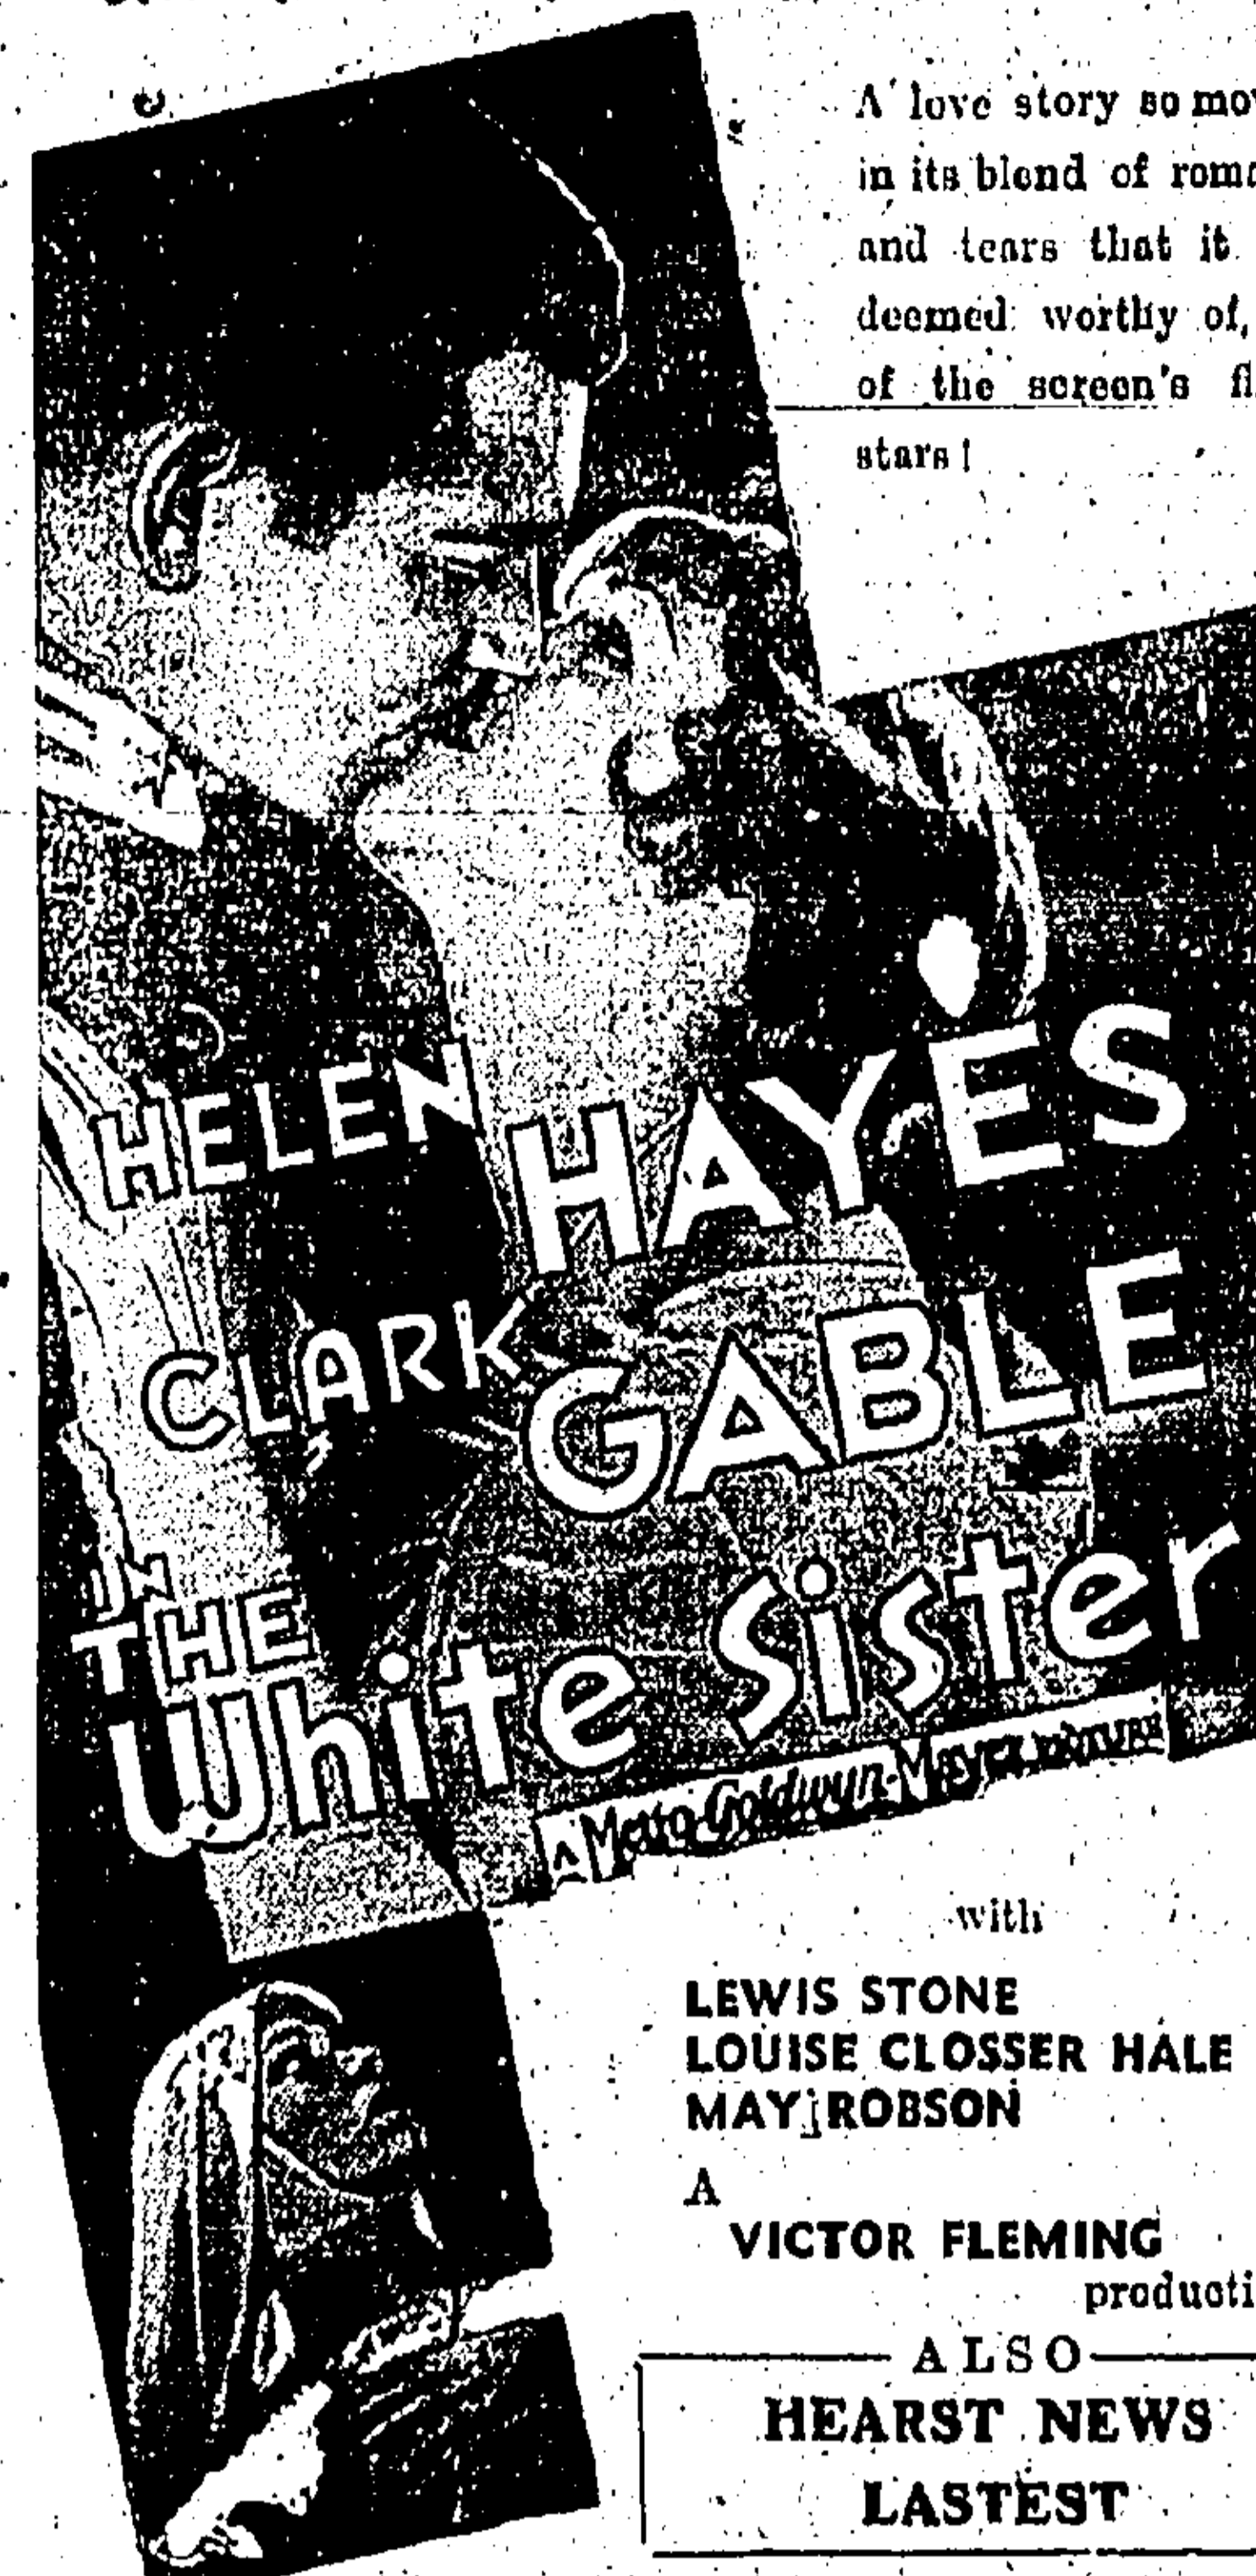

The exact terms of the argument are not available. It is understood that the Company points out that it has spent much capital in putting the system in proper working order for the future, it has so far paid no dividends and the fall in the dollar exchange since the Anson Report was published has really made the Anson rates inapplicable, although the Company agreed to defer raising that point when they came into force on the completion of the conversion scheme.

the position I have taken against the law. What I am going to say now must not be taken as a criticism or attack. I simply want to air my grievances against motives that have been attributed to me. The remarks of Senator Osmena tonight remove a dagger from my heart for I hear for the first time an admission that differences on the Hawes-Cutting law could arise from honest and sincere conviction.

FIRE THREAT TO 2,000 PATIENTS

OUTBREAK IN MENTAL HOSPITAL

A fire which broke out recently in the top storey of a new wing at Cork Mental Hospital, where more than two thousand mental cases are under treatment, caused some alarm to the staff. The Cork fire brigade turned out to assist the asylum attendants in fighting the flames, however, and the outbreak was quickly checked.

Thousands of holidaymakers helped to beat out a fierce fire on Corton Cliffs, near Lowestoft. The fire started in a stubble field, and, fanned by a strong wind, the flames rapidly spread across the Lowestoft road, where traffic was blocked, to Corton golf course, and almost reached the sea before they were checked.

Fire broke out in a spinney near the Winkfield road, between Windsor and Ascot, and spread at an alarming rate, at one time threatening several houses. Flames shot up to a great height, but firemen succeeded in preventing them from reaching the houses, although a number of valuable trees were destroyed.

A four-storey mill belonging to Messrs. John Harwood and Co., cotton spinners, Rishton-lane, Bolton, was seriously damaged by fire. It is possible that two hundred employees will be affected.
